ANNUAL REPORT

FOR THE YEAR 1920

BOSTON

NINETEEN HUNDRED AND TWENTY-ONE

MASSACHUSETTS HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

1920.

Beginning with the year 1920 a change is made in the publications of the Society. Since 1874 the "Transactions" have been issued in two parts every year, with the exception of the years 1895, 1896, and 1897, when a third part was added containing a list of accessions to the library. Part 1 contained reports of lectures delivered before the Society and Part 2, the annual reports of the various officers and committees.

The necessity of a more prompt issue of the horticultural papers is recognized and the publication of the "Bulletin" renders it unnecessary to continue the former methods. It is now proposed to use the "Bulletin" for the horticultural papers and to publish an annual report containing the reports of officers and committees.

ANNUAL REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1920.

INAUGURAL MEETING.

The Inaugural Meeting of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society for the year 1920 was held at Horticultural Hall, Boston, on Saturday, January 10, at twelve o'clock, with President Endicott in the Chair.

The following Inaugural Address was delivered by the President:

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT ENDICOTT.

During the year the work of the Society has progressed along its usual lines. The coming year will, I trust, enable the Society to do work which will be of lasting value by giving ten exhibitions in which money prizes are offered; by distributing silver and bronze medals to children throughout the Commonwealth; by publishing Part II of the Catalogue; and by issuing Bulletins from time to time.

Our Trustees voted to hold, during the year 1920, only six exhibitions. For the great Orchid Show, to be held in March, prizes amounting to $5000 have been offered, and an additional sum of $2500 has been appropriated for the other five exhibitions. Through the generosity of a member of the Society, $1000 has been offered for four exhibitions, which will be held during the summer months, making in all ten exhibitions. Among young people, interest in gardening has shown a tremendous increase, particularly since the war. In order that such interest may receive further encouragement, the Trustees, recognizing the importance of this work, have voted to distribute fifty silver and fifty bronze medals for the best gardens cultivated by children under eighteen years of age, in various parts of the State. This plan appears to be an excellent one, as it is in the line of extending our influence.

The Library contains one of the largest and best collections of books in the world relating to horticulture and kindred subjects. These books are frequently consulted by students and specialists in the preparation of horticultural and agricultural publications. Members are free to withdraw books for home use. Upon request to the Librarian, books can be sent by mail postpaid, though when returned to the Library the borrower must pay expense of return, a privilege which is not used as often as one would expect.

The cataloguing of books has been done from time to time. The first catalogue of the Library, enumerating 190 volumes, was published in the New England Farmer, in 1831. Later lists of books were published at intervals until a catalogue in pamphlet form, enumerating 414 volumes, was issued in 1854. Another catalogue, enumerating 1290 volumes, was published in 1867, and a complete catalogue was printed in 1873, occupying 155 octavo pages. Since that time no complete catalogue has been printed.

In April 1919, an alphabetical list of authors and titles of the entire Library, enumerating some 22,000 volumes, was published and called Part I. Letters have been received from many persons in England and the United States commending this publication. One letter says: "It is a splendid bit of work beautifully turned out and owing to its comprehensiveness of infinite value to book collectors, students of horticultural literature, librarians and workers in horticulture generally." Another letter from the Royal Horticultural Society, of London, says: "This catalogue of the Library of your Society will be of very great value and interest to us and our large body of Fellows."

Part II, which is to be a classified arrangement of the same material contained in Part I under subject headings, is now ready for publication. As soon as it is possible to do so, the Trustees intend to publish this part. This should have been done at the time Part I was published, but owing to the disturbed condition of the printing trade and the increased cost of printing, the Trustees wisely felt that publication should be deferred until a more favorable time.

A new feature of the Society's work has been the publication of Bulletins, two numbers of which have been issued. The object of the Bulletin is to present matters of interest concerning the activities of the Society and to stimulate a greater interest in its work. It is hoped during the present year to continue the publication of these Bulletins at more frequent intervals.

The first Bulletin contained a "Report on the Future Policy of the Society," signed by Messrs. Sargent, Farquhar, and Endicott, and "The Outlook for the Future," containing extracts from my inaugural address of last year. The second Bulletin contained suggestions in regard to "Membership" and facts relating to the "Library." I trust our members will seriously consider both these Bulletins, as they contain information and recommendations which, if carried out, would, I believe, enable us to increase our activities in many ways.

The Treasurer holds twenty-one funds, which have been given from time to time to the Society by various friends, either during their lifetime or by will, with restrictions as to the use and application of the income from the same. By reason of changed conditions, it is now practically impossible to apply the income of some half-dozen of these funds in strict accord with the terms of the deed of trust or bequest. The Trustees believe that in these cases it would accord with the intent and desire of the various givers to have some slight changes made in these restrictions in order that the income from the funds may be used for purposes very nearly akin to those originally provided for. By proper application to the Supreme Court in Equity, it is proposed to have the terms of these various gifts modified pursuant to the equitable doctrine known as "cy pres."

The George Robert White Medal of Honor for the year 1919 was awarded to Vilmorin-Andrieux & Company, the famous firm of French seedsmen and gardeners which has since 1780 been active under its present name in matters relating to agriculture and horticulture. A member of the fifth generation, in direct descent, of the Vilmorins is now at the head of the firm which, in its long career, has been successful with increasing productiveness of sugar beets, of wheat, and of many culinary vegetables, and has been largely responsible for the introduction into Europe of many important timber and ornamental trees as well as for the improvement of flowers.

I have received a letter, under date of January the ninth, 1920, from Mr. Albert Cameron Burrage, enclosing a check for $1200, made payable to the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, the income of which is to be used for the purpose of promoting the cranberry industry in Massachusetts. The terms upon which this gift was given are as follows:

"I hereby give the Horticultural Society twelve hundred dollars with the request that its income be used from time to time for the purchase of gold medals to be awarded by the Society to those residents of Massachusetts, whether private individuals or public officials, who, in the judgment of the Trustees of this Society, or of committees appointed by them, have during a stated time, either by exhibition of cranberries, or cultivation of the cranberry vine, or scientific research, or technical writings, done the most for this industry."

Mr. Burrage has in his greenhouses at Beverly Farms, the largest collection of orchids in this country. In view of the great Orchid Exhibition, March 24th to 28th, he suggests that 1920 be made a memorable orchid year, and to arouse a still greater interest in orchid culture, Mr. Burrage will show the different orchid plants as they bloom in their season from month to month from January to December throughout the year. He will exhibit a large collection of flowering orchid plants at every scheduled exhibition and also on January 31st, February 28th, April 10th, October 9th and December 18th. It is desirable in connection with these exhibitions of orchids that other members of the Society should display interesting plants which will be recognized and rewarded by the Society.

Last year, in looking through our Act of Incorporation, approved June 12, 1829, I found that the Trustees were unable to lay and collect assessments on members of the Society in excess of two dollars per annum. I then urged, and I now urge, that the Trustees be given full power to decide from time to time as to what fees are to be levied upon life and annual members which would involve an amendment to our charter. In view of the fact that there is a certain amount of opposition to such a change, the Trustees have decided to do nothing at present. The members of the Society should be willing to pay a larger assessment, which would assist the Society financially, and enable us to extend our work. In increasing admission fees and assessments, it might be advisable to give a year's notice of such proposed change. Annual payments for those who have already joined the Society should not be changed. The fee for life membership is now thirty dollars, which is lower than that of most other societies of equal standing and importance. Several Societies of late years have increased their fees. The Society of American Florists has raised its life membership fee from thirty to fifty dollars, and its annual fee from three to five dollars, and the life membership fee of the American Rose Society is fifty dollars.

At the beginning of 1919, the membership of our Society consisted of:

Honorary members	3
Corresponding members	42	45
Life members	790
Annual members	195	985
<hr/>

At the end of 1919, 51 new members (36 life and 15 annual) have been added, but as there has been a loss by death and discontinuance, of 34, our increase is only 17, or a total of 1002, the largest since 1876, when the membership was 1008. In the history of the Society, the largest membership was in 1871, when our members were 1035 in number. It is incredible to me that our membership is so small. Mr. Saltonstall stated in one of his addresses that there were, in 1914, 14,400 Fellows in the Royal Horticultural Society of London. It cannot be that there are so few people interested in horticulture throughout this Commonwealth. The more I think of it, the more I am convinced that the Massachusetts Horticultural Society is little known outside of Boston. The policy of the Society for years has been such that its interests and activities have been centered in Boston and its vicinity, to such an extent that little assistance or information or instruction upon horticultural or agricultural subjects has ever been given outside of this immediate neighborhood. Considering that the Horticultural Society is a state institution, free from Federal and State taxes, this policy, to say the least, is an unwise one.

The cause of horticulture can best be served at this time in Massachusetts by an increase in our membership. I cannot urge too strongly upon our members the importance of helping the Trustees to increase the usefulness of the Society by obtaining new members from different parts of the Commonwealth, in order that we may have thousands instead of a thousand members. The fact that one member, who is neither a citizen of greater Boston, nor a Trustee, nor an officer of the Society, has obtained, during the past year twenty-two new members (fourteen life and eight annual), shows that it is possible, with proper inclination and energy to increase our membership. While we have added 51 new members this past year, this seems a small number when it is considered how many people there are who would be willing to become life or annual members if they were only approached in the right way.

At the conclusion of his address the President called for the annual reports of the officers and chairmen of the various committees for the previous year which were accepted and referred to the Committee on Publications.

After the business part of the meeting a large audience listened with much interest to an illustrated lecture by E. H. Wilson who described and pictured an account of his sixth journey to the Far East in search of plants for American Gardens.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

BY THE SECRETARY.

The Trustees have held six meetings during the year 1920 and a summary of the principal matters of business transacted is given herewith.

January 9. It was voted to accept the offer of Albert C. Burrage establishing a fund of $1200 the income of which is to be awarded from time to time in gold medals for the promotion of the cranberry industry in Massachusetts.

At the April meeting it was voted to award the Society's Special Diploma to the Arnold Arboretum for its exhibit of Japanese azaleas at the March Exhibition and also to Albert C. Burrage for his exhibit of orchids at the same show.

At the May meeting it was voted to hold a grand exhibition of roses and other plants in April, 1921, and an appropriation of $6000 was made for prizes.

Other votes adopted were as follows:

That money prizes be offered during the year 1921 only at four exhibitions.

That the Librarian be authorized to print Part 2 of the Catalogue of the Library.

That the President appoint a special committee to revise the By-laws of the Society in order to establish more clearly the functions of the different committees and to report to the Board such changes as may be desirable.

At the October meeting it was voted to invite the American Rose Society, the American Peony Society, and the New England Gladiolus Society to hold their annual meetings and exhibitions of 1921 in connection with the exhibitions of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society.

At this meeting attention was called to the work of the Committee on Horticultural Quarantine and the necessity of raising a fund for its expenses. The object of this committee is to endeavor to secure some modification of the drastic regulations of Quarantine No. 37 which was discouraging the interest in horticulture and blocking its progress. An appropriation of $2000 was voted for this purpose. An appropriation of $1000, in addition to the income of the special prize funds of the Society, was made for four additional exhibitions during the year 1921.

At the December meeting Mr. Saltonstall reported on the matter of several of the special prize funds of the Society, the terms of which had become impracticable to fulfil in recent years. He had thus far been able by legal procedure to obtain modification of the Henry A. Gane Memorial Fund so that in future the income may be paid in prizes for chrysanthemums, preference to be given to varieties originated by the late Henry A. Gane. Also he had found that the Levi Whitcomb Bequest was originally given to the Society without any conditions as to the use of the income therefrom and that the terms in force since the year 1870 were voted by the Society. He therefore recommended the repeal of these terms and to substitute in their place that the income be awarded hereafter in prizes for potatoes of superior quality, preference to be given to new varieties. The report of Mr. Saltonstall was approved and accepted.

The George Robert White Medal of Honor for the year 1920 was awarded to George Forrest of England for his work in the introduction of desirable garden plants from southwest China, and the Albert Cameron Burrage Medal for the promotion of the cranberry industry in Massachusetts was awarded to H. J. Franklin, of East Wareham, on account of his paper on "Cape Cod Cranberry Frosts."

The special committee appointed to nominate the standing committees of the Society for the year 1921 submitted the following list of nominations which was approved and accepted.

STANDING COMMITTEES FOR 1921.

Finance:—Walter Hunnewell, Chairman, Richard M. Saltonstall, Edwin S. Webster.

Membership:—Thomas Allen, Chairman, William C. Endicott, Thomas Roland.

Prizes and Exhibitions:—Thomas Allen, Chairman, John K. M. L. Farquhar, Arthur Lyman, Thomas Roland.

Plants and Flowers:—Theophilus D. Hatfield, Chairman, Douglas Eccleston, S. J. Goddard, Julius Heurlin, William H. Judd, Donald McKenzie.

Fruits:—Fred A. Smith, Chairman, Walter H. Golby, Isaac H. Locke, James Methven, Edward B. Wilder.

Vegetables:—William N. Craig, Chairman, Edward Parker, William C. Rust, John L. Smith.

Gardens:—Albert C. Burrage, Chairman, John S. Ames, George E. Barnard, Charles W. Hoitt, Richard M. Saltonstall, Charles Sander.

Library:—Charles S. Sargent, Chairman, Ernest B. Dane, Nathaniel T. Kidder.

Lectures and Publications:—Fred A. Wilson, Chairman, Thomas Allen, John K. L. M. Farquhar, Charles S. Sargent.

Children's Gardens:—James Wheeler, Chairman, Dr. Harris Kennedy, Miss Eleanor W. Allen, Miss Marian R. Case, Miss Louisa Hunnewell, Miss Margaret A. Rand.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON PRIZES AND EXHIBITIONS.

BY THOMAS ALLEN, CHAIRMAN.

The history of this Society is being written and recorded from day to day and without encroaching upon the reports of other committees it can be said that never before in the whole history of the Society has an exhibition been staged comparable with the great exhibition of orchids and spring-flowering plants held March 24–28, 1920. It can be said further that never before has such a wonderful exhibition been seen anywhere.

The great feature which occupied the entire floor of the lecture hall was the exhibit of orchids by Albert C. Burrage. It was arranged to simulate natural conditions; the epiphytal species, or tree-growing orchids, attached to the bark of imitation tree trunks, and the terrestrial species, those generally found on the ground, displayed on moss-covered rocky banks.

The exhibition was called the Boston Orchid Show, although as a matter of fact prizes were offered in more than ninety different classes of spring-flowering plants and every class was filled.

The first impression — and it was one that lasted — was of bewildering profusion. The halls were so filled with wonderful things that there was little room left for the crowds of people who came to see them.

If the aphorism is true that "Flowers are most beautiful as seen growing in their natural surroundings" then the R. & J. Farquhar Company's exhibit of Regal lilies and Kaempferi azaleas, plunged in earth and backed with a screen of evergreens, must be considered as one of the most successful. It was simple, attractive, and most effective.

Mr. Hunnewell's magnificent group of the Miss Louisa Hunnewell azalea was very effectively placed in the center of the large hall. It was arranged with an abundance of green foliaged plants in an irregular form of grouping and, on the whole, could not have been improved.

Nearby, Mrs. C. G. Weld's exhibit filled a corner with a mass of color that was carefully studied and harmoniously arranged. A touch of blue on the top gave a key-note that attracted the attention of everyone. Blue is a rare and precious color among flowers and this note of pure blue was the only one in the whole exhibition. It was criticized as being too conspicuous, but its rarity emphasized it and to most observers it seemed remarkably well placed.

One of the most charming features of the exhibition was Thomas Roland's beautifully arranged collection of acacias with its tracery of exquisite foliage and flowers.

In the center of this section, surrounded by Mr. Roland's acacias, was placed upon a slightly raised platform an exhibit such as one may see, possibly, once in a lifetime, the Kurume azaleas. The entry into the floral world of such a novelty, in such profusion, perfectly grown and flowered, was an event of first importance. The exquisite delicacy of form and color in these flowers is beyond words to describe.

From time to time criticisms have been made on the installation of some of the exhibitions of the Society. The question that arises is Why is not the grower often a good exhibitor? or, Why does he not install his exhibits to better advantage? One would naturally infer that a person who can produce the exquisite things that are shown in the halls would know what to do with them after he has produced them, and how to exhibit them to best advantage.

The answer to the question is a seeming paradox. The grower does not install his exhibit to best advantage because he loves his flowers, his creations, so well. He loves them all so well that he does not wish to give any one preëminence over another, and so, treating them all without prejudice, he tries to make each one occupy a dominant position in his exhibit. The result is a monotonous repetition of form and color values which inevitably sacrifices the object he wishes to attain, that object being an effective ensemble.

The secret of good installation lies in the ability of the person making it to visualize the whole effect of his exhibit before it is installed. Then, if he is a person of cultivated taste and endowed with a highly sensitive color sense, success must follow.

These are simply suggestions given with the hope that the exhibitions may be so improved that visitors will feel inclined to believe that there was once on a time a Garden of Eden and that they have been privileged to see a small portion of it.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON PLANTS AND FLOWERS.

BY SAMUEL J. GODDARD, CHAIRMAN.

In presenting this report of the Committee on Plants and Flowers for the year 1920 there were so many outstanding features offered for judgment and recognition that we cannot do justice to the various exhibitors without giving them special mention.

The March Exhibition of Orchids and Other Plants brought out a wonderful collection of interesting plants of which orchids formed the conspicuous feature. There were 56 classes of orchids and 108 classes of other plants. The orchid exhibit of Albert C. Burrage which occupied the entire lecture hall alone contained 1500 plants. In addition to his exhibit Mr. Burrage distributed leaflets containing information on the orchid family and also showed many volumes from his library with colored plates of the different genera. The entire exhibit was an educational feature of great importance.

In addition to the March show Mr. Burrage made monthly exhibits of orchids showing the different species as they bloom in their season throughout the year. It was indeed a memorable orchid year. Other notable exhibits of orchids at this exhibition were Ernest B. Dane's superb collection of 12 varieties of Cypripediums of merit; Arthur N. Cooley's choice display of rare cut blooms; and the many superb plants of rare genera shown by the Julius Roehrs Co.

The exhibit of the Kurume azaleas by the Arnold Arboretum was the largest display of these plants ever publicly exhibited in any part of the world. It comprised 49 named varieties a list of which with their names and colors is appended to this report. Also the R. & J. Farquhar Co.'s garden exhibit as mentioned in the report of the Committee on Prizes and Exhibitions is worthy of a second mention. Other noteworthy features of the March Exhibition were the groups of flowering acacias arranged by Thomas Roland; the flowering and foliage plants of Mrs. C. G. Weld; and the magnificent specimens of the Miss Louisa Hunnewell azalea, originated by Theophilus D. Hatfield, Superintendent of the Walter Hunnewell estate at Wellesley. Mr. Hatfield assures the committee that this beautiful plant is perfectly hardy. It is a welcome addition to our spring-flowering shrubs.

At the exhibition of May 15 a notable exhibit was made by Arthur Lyman of Waltham, George F. Stewart, gardener, of four varieties of Calceolaria Stewarti, including the most recent var. Lymani, a very rich velvety crimson of dwarf habit. All of the varieties of Calceolaria were raised by Mr. Stewart.

On June 19 J. T. Butterworth of Framingham exhibited a group of Miltonia vexillaria. It was admirably arranged against a background of hemlock branches. Roses were not exhibited to any extent at the Rose Exhibition, neither were peonies, but at the August Exhibition gladioli were shown in great numbers and proved that this flower is becoming increasingly popular in the outdoor garden. At this exhibition a magnificent specimen of Dipladenia splendens was shown by Arthur Lyman of Waltham, George F. Stewart, gardener. It was good to see this old favorite again in our exhibition and we hope to be favored with more of this type in the future.

A conspicuous feature of the November Exhibition was the display of 43 varieties of Winter Flowering begonias by Thomas E. Proctor of Topsfield, arranged by James Marlborough, gardener. It was a fine example of this comparatively new type of begonia in a beautiful variety of colors the art of the hybridizer is presenting to the world. The arrangement was faultless and the plants were grown to perfection.

The majority of the exhibitions of the year were not up to the usual standard of quality, no doubt caused in large measure by the very severe winter of 1919-1920, the shortage of coal, the lack of skilled labor, and a backward season. This however does not in any way pertain to the Spring Exhibition which was marvellous in its variety arrangement.

A list of the names and colors of the Kurume azaleas exhibited by the Arnold Arboretum at the exhibition of March 24-28, 1920. Prepared by Mr. Ernest H. Wilson:

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON FRUITS.

BY EDWARD B. WILDER, CHAIRMAN.

The decided improvement in the exhibits of fruits noted in the report for 1919 has continued during 1920, but not greatly advanced. The "war conditions, shortage of labor, and poor transportation" referred to in that report have continued, indeed, seem to have increased, but the special inducements offered in prizes have encouraged the amateur growers of fruit to exhibit somewhat more freely and the reestablishment of the third prize is recommended.

The display of strawberries at the Exhibition, June 26, was small, Hillcrest Gardens, Weston, winning all the prizes. The difficulty of arranging a schedule a year in advance for small fruits and setting a fixed date for an exhibition, irrespective of New England's fluctuating weather conditions, acted unfavorably as in this exhibition.

At the Exhibition, July 10, Hillcrest Gardens received first prize for red cherries and Mrs. M. J. Merrill, Medford, first prize for the Royal Ann (Napoleon), a yellow cherry. In the classes for currants Hillcrest Gardens took first with Fay's Prolific for a red variety and John Bauernfeind, first for White Imperial, a white variety. In gooseberries John Bauernfeind took first for Columbus. In the classes for strawberries Louis Graton won first for his St. Martin and Hillcrest Gardens second for William Belt.

The first exhibits of apples and pears for the season were made August 14 with Williams, Sweet Bough, Yellow Transparent apples, and Clapp's Favorite pear. Greensboro and Champion peaches also were shown.

At the exhibition of September 11 the following varieties were shown: Gravenstein, Hubbardston, Maiden Blush, and Porter apples; Bartlett, Worden Seckel, President, pears; Belle of Georgia, Champion peaches; and Satsuma, Lombard, Green Gage plums. George F. Stewart, gardener to Arthur Lyman, was awarded first prize for a display of black and white foreign grapes, the Black Hamburg and Muscatel. The disastrous effects of the past severe winter were evident in the exceedingly small displays of peaches and plums at the summer and early autumn exhibitions.

There was a good display of apples at the show of September 25. Many of the varieties, however, were picked prematurely and in the opinion of the committee should have been scheduled for a later exhibition. Such varieties as Baldwin, R. I. Greening, Roxbury Russet, Winter Banana, Northern Spy, and other varieties of apples, also Dana Hovey pears, which would not be mature for a month or more. An excellent display of pears was made by Mrs. Elbridge Torrey of Dorchester and Dr. Walter G. Kendall of Atlantic, both winning three first prizes.

The exhibit of grapes was very fine, one of the best for years, showing splendid cultivation and care in growing. John Bauernfeind of Medford took four first prizes for Brighton, Concord, Moore's Diamond, and Wilder, and Peter Andersen of Woburn three first prizes for Eaton, Niagara, and Worden. Mr. Andersen exhibited a new seedling grape, No. 17, which greatly interested the committee. The berries were very large, dark purple in color, and the flavor good. It was awarded a gratuity.

There was a fine display of apples at the Autumn Exhibition, November 6-7, nearly all the classes having entries. The classes for fifty specimens of one variety were well represented. Allison P. Smith of Stowe won first prize for fifty Baldwins and first for fifty McIntosh; Herbert A. Clark of Belmont won first for fifty Sutton; and Hillcrest Gardens first for fifty crabapples. John Bauernfeind received first for four varieties of native grapes and Edward B. Wilder of Dorchester, first prize for Anjou, Lawrence, and Vicar pears.

The display of quinces was the largest seen in the hall for years and was very attractive. Isaac H. Locke of Belmont took first prize for this fruit with twelve specimens of Orange.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON VEGETABLES.

BY WILLIAM N. CRAIG, CHAIRMAN.

The Committee on Vegetables desires to report that the displays of vegetables made at the various exhibitions of the Society held in 1920 were on the whole very satisfactory. Competition was in some cases less spirited than we would like to have seen; this was not surprising when it is remembered that inducements in the way of money premiums were comparatively small and that a large proportion of the amount offered came from Miss Marian Roby Case of Weston, without whose generous pecuniary aid several exhibitions could not have been held.

The quality of vegetables shown was uniformly good and it was particularly encouraging to note the good competition in the classes allotted to collections and their effective staging. The season proved to be a favorable one for all varieties of vegetables, the growing season was a long one, and even quite tender kinds remained unscathed by frost until November.

The Wm. B. H. Dowse Challenge Trophy, offered to the exhibitor scoring the greatest number of points in the vegetable classes, was captured by Hillcrest Gardens, a popular and well-merited award.

The statement is occasionally heard and sometimes believed that a vegetable show is unattractive and does not interest the general public as do flowers and plants, but anyone who attended the exhibitions during the past year must have been impressed with the fact that vegetables, even if shown only in moderate quantities, attracted visitors fully as much as any other exhibits staged and at the November show the vegetable display made in the small hall proved more of a potent attraction than any of the other exhibits.

It is somewhat discouraging to the committee to note the gradual elimination of vegetables from the schedules. The Massachusetts Horticultural Society was formed to encourage the culture of plants, flowers, fruits, and vegetables and until comparatively recent years lived up to this high ideal. Now unfortunately it is becoming more and more of a floricultural society and fruits and vegetables appear to be viewed somewhat in the light of necessary nuisances. Not many years ago the bulk of our vegetable exhibitors were commercial men and these same keen, wide-awake, and able men comprised our vegetable committees. Now we regret to say we have lost nearly all of this most desirable element. Alienated exhibitors can be regained, however, if the Society's present policy is changed. Competition can be stimulated best and interest quickened and retained by holding monthly shows from June until November and by appropriating a fair share of the prizes for vegetable exhibits. An occasional big vegetable show accomplishes far less while costing much more than a number of small exhibitions.

The committee will freely admit that large floriculture displays in early spring will attract the multitudes and help fill the exchequer; the exhibits at these shows, however, are all grown under glass. If we are to broaden our Society and secure the sympathetic support of the great mass of garden lovers we must encourage the culture of open air subjects in every legitimate way. This cannot be done unless the management of this Society departs in some measure from its present policy.

We do not need to be told that New England needs more tillers of her brown soil, must produce more food at home, and in this way help in some measure to reduce the cost of living so that it will compare favorably with other populous centers of the land. The more, therefore, we can do to encourage intensive culture of the soil in the production of food crops in our gardens by lectures, advice, and exhibitions, the better will we be following the policy promulgated by the founders of our Society, and the more we will secure and retain the regard of the ever-growing army of amateur gardeners.

Our slogan might well be "Help New England to feed herself" and with this watchword and an assurance of the great benefits of daylight saving being continued we can reasonably hope for a continued increase in home-grown food products.

The Committee on Vegetables offers these criticisms in the most friendly spirit with an earnest desire to benefit this honored Society and make it a still greater factor for good in the community.

Nine exhibitions of vegetables have been held during the year and in addition to the prizes listed in the Schedule the following special awards have been made:

May 15. Hillcrest Gardens showed the udo (Aralia cordata). Honorable Mention.

June 5. Hillcrest Gardens received a Gratuity for the Uncle Gideon Quick Lunch potato.

June 19. Hillcrest Gardens was awarded a Cultural Certificate for an attractive display.

August 14. Faulkner Farm received Honorable Mention for the new tomato No. 10, and Hillcrest Gardens a Vote of Thanks for the Chinese egg plant.

September 11. Albert C. Burrage was awarded Honorable Mention for the new tomato, The Diener.

November 6. M. S. Fickett of Chelsea was awarded a Vote of Thanks for an interesting exhibit of pollenized sweet corn, showing a mixture of Black Mexican with white, red, and yellow varieties.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON CHILDREN'S GARDENS.

BY JAMES WHEELER, CHAIRMAN.

The annual exhibition of the products of children's gardens was held Saturday and Sunday, September 4 and 5, 1920. Both the large and small halls were well filled and there was keen competition in every class. In single classes of beets, carrots, potatoes, and beans there were from forty to eighty entries.

In the lecture hall there was an interesting display by the Mary Hemenway School of Roxbury, comprising plants, flowers, vegetables, canned products, and samples of the industrial work carried on by this school under the superintendence of Miss L. Gertrude Howes. This exhibit attracted much attention and was awarded a Silver Medal.

A special appropriation was made by the Trustees of the Society in order to encourage the interest in children's gardening throughout the state. This appropriation was used in awarding Silver and Bronze Medals to those maintaining their gardens in good condition during the season. Many entries were received for these medals and the plan proved of much value in increasing the interest of the children in their work. Money prizes amounting to $300 were offered at the exhibition, every dollar of which was awarded.

At the suggestion of the Chairman a conference of the garden teachers and supervisors was held during the exhibition to talk over the work and to discuss the best methods for maintaining the interest of the young people along agricultural lines. Mr. D. W. O'Brien, the supervisor of the Boston school gardens, favored that some token — a ribbon or a card — be given to exhibitors not receiving a prize, if their exhibits had been worthy. This suggestion was favorably received.

Miss Annie L. Burke of Broekton spoke appreciatively of the medals given out by the Society last year and the incentive they had been to the young gardeners. It developed that in many cities and towns there had been appropriate exercises connected with their presentation.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON LECTURES AND PUBLICATIONS.

BY FRED A. WILSON, CHAIRMAN.

The spring lecture course for 1920 was a variant from preceding practice. The committee tried the plan of a course of lectures by one man, in an attempt to get a connected series, and a presentation of material not commonly obtainable from other easy sources. We were fortunate in our choice of Professor W. J. V. Osterhout of Harvard University, who gave us a series of six lectures entitled "The Living Plant" which were of high quality in every respect.

There is always the question of the desirability of presenting more common things, even illustrated bench methods of preparing soil, sowing, cuttings, transplanting, and repotting; but your committee feels that the principal course may well be upon matters of advanced horticulture, and have followed this opinion by securing Professor Osterhout for another course for the lecture season of 1921 which will deal with a somewhat more chemical side of horticulture. Notices of this course will give complete information.

The committee for 1920 also has arranged for a series of explanatory work, through lecturers or docents, accompanying the exhibitions of the year 1921. This was possible because of the generous offer of Miss Marian R. Case to pay the expenses of such work.

The committee has reduced the published transactions of the Society to one volume for 1920, containing annual reports, committee reports, inaugural address, and such matters. General horticultural matters will not be included. It is proposed to do more with Bulletins, which will be issued irregularly and not at stated intervals, and which chiefly will contain horticultural information. The committee would be glad to receive suggestions at any time relating to its work.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY AND LIBRARIAN.

Two principal features stand out prominently in the activities of the Society during the year 1920. The first is the Grand Exhibition of Orchids and Other Plants in March, details of which will be found in the reports of the Committee on Prizes and Exhibitions and the Committee on Plants and Flowers. The other feature is the stand taken by the Society in regard to the drastic regulations of the Federal Horticultural Board's Quarantine No. 37. In conjunction with the Horticultural Society of New York, the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, and numerous other horticultural organizations throughout the country a strong protest is being made of these regulations which are practically an embargo on the introduction of new and desirable garden plants and an obstacle to horticultural progress.

In addition to the March exhibit of orchids Mr. Albert C. Burrage has made monthly exhibits of orchid plants in flower showing the plants as they come into bloom month by month throughout the year.

The George Robert White Medal of Honor for the year 1920 was awarded to Mr. George Forrest of England for his work in the introduction of desirable garden plants from southwest China.

The Albert Cameron Burrage Medal for the promotion of the cranberry industry in the state was awarded to Dr. Henry J. Franklin of East Wareham on account of a paper on Cape Cod Cranberry Frosts published in the Monthly Weather Review of the United States Department of Agriculture, Supplement No. 16.

Mr. William B. H. Dowse has continued his offer of a handsome silver vase to be awarded to the exhibitor of vegetables obtaining the greatest number of points as arranged in the Schedule of Prizes. It was won this year by the Hillcrest Gardens of Weston.

The Hillcrest Prizes for the best vegetable gardens in Middlesex County, Massachusetts, cultivated by amateurs, were awarded as follows:

First, to Mrs. A. L. Hentzi, Waltham.

Second, to Robert H. Trask, Weston.

Third to Mrs. Gertrude Hersey, Waltham.

Miss Marian R. Case, by whom the prizes amounting to $115.00 were offered, states that there were forty-two entries for the Hillcrest Prizes, and that it is estimated that more than $4,000.00 worth of garden products were harvested from them.

With the coöperation of the American Iris Society at the May Exhibition, the American Sweet Pea Society in July, and the American Gladiolus Society in August these exhibitions were of more than ordinary interest.

A course of six lectures on "Plant Life" was given during February, March, and April by Professor W. J. V. Osterhout of Harvard University.

Part 2 of the Transactions of the Society, the last to be issued under this title, was distributed on May 18. Two numbers of the Bulletin have been issued during the year. Number 3, entitled "Kurume Azaleas" and Number 4, "Horticultural Conference on Quarantine No. 37 Held in New York, June 15, 1920."

THE LIBRARY.

The preparation of the second part of the Catalogue of the Library has been resumed during the year. This part will consist of a classified arrangement of the books printed in Part I, and is now nearly ready for publication. The two parts will be issued in one volume at an early date.

Further additions have accrued to the John D. W. French Fund during the year increasing it to $10,188.00. The income of this fund is used for the purchase of books for the library.

Members of the Society are again reminded of their privilege to have books sent to them by mail at the Society's expense; to be returned at the borrower's expense.

Another lot of 1285 pamphlets has been bound in board covers during the year thus ensuring their proper care and preservation. This makes a total of 3285 pamphlets treated in this manner.

WALTER HUNNEWELL,
Treasurer.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The Annual Meeting of the Society for the year 1920 was held at Horticultural Hall, Boston, on Saturday, November 13, at twelve o'clock, with President Endicott in the Chair. The record of the preceding meeting was read by the Secretary and duly approved. The President appointed Messrs. E. B. Wilder, J. A. Crosby, and W. P. Rich a committee to receive, assort, and count the ballots, and to report the number. He then declared the polls open to remain open until three o'clock.

President Endicott announced that the following appropriations for prizes and gratuities for the year 1921 had been voted by the Trustees:

For an exhibition of roses and other plants in April, $6,000.

For four additional exhibitions, $1,000, in addition to the income of the special prize funds of the Society.

For an exhibition of the products of children's gardens, $300.

No other business being offered the President declared a recess until three o'clock and appointed Mr. N. T. Kidder Chairman pro tem.

At three o'clock the Chairman declared the polls closed and Mr. Wilder, for the ballot committee, reported as follows:

Whole number of ballots cast, 25.

For President, Albert C. Burrage had 25.

For Vice President, (for two years) Thomas Allen had 25.

For Trustees, (for three years) William C. Endicott had 25; Walter Hunnewell, 25; Thomas Roland, 24; Mrs. Bayard Thayer, 25.

For Nominating Committee, Oakes Ames had 25; George E. Barnard, 25; Wilton B. Fay, 24; Duncan Finlayson, 24; Thomas Roland, 25.

Mr. Kidder then declared that the following list of officers of the Society for the year 1921 had been duly elected:

Massachusetts Horticultural Society

ANNUAL REPORT

FOR THE YEAR 1921

BOSTON

NINETEEN HUNDRED AND TWENTY-TWO

MASSACHUSETTS HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Beginning with the year 1920 a change is made in the publications of the Society. Since 1874 the "Transactions" have been issued in two parts every year, with the exception of the years 1895, 1896, and 1897, when a third part was added containing a list of accessions to the library. Part 1 contained reports of lectures delivered before the Society and Part 2, the annual reports of the various officers and committees.

The necessity of a more prompt issue of the horticultural papers is recognized and the publication of the "Bulletin" renders it unnecessary to continue the former methods. It is now proposed to use the "Bulletin" for the horticultural papers and to publish an annual report containing the reports of officers and committees.

Massachusetts Horticultural Society

ANNUAL REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1921.

INAUGURAL MEETING.

The Inaugural Meeting of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society for the year 1921 was held at Horticultural Hall, Boston, on Saturday, January 18, at two o'clock, with President Endicott in the Chair.

The retiring President, William C. Endicott, delivered a parting address, reviewing the work of the year 1920, the business transacted by the Board of Trustees, and making certain recommendations for the future work of the Society.

At the close of his address Mr. Endicott presented the incoming President, Albert C. Burrage, who gave an inaugural address entitled "A Plea for the Exotic" which has been published in full in the Society's Bulletin Number 5.

President Burrage then called for the annual reports of the officers and chairmen of the various committees which are summarized on the following pages.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

The Secretary presented a report of the business transacted by the Board of Trustees during the year 1921.

January 17. On motion of Prof. Sargent Mr. Henry H. Richardson was appointed a Trustee for the current year to fill a vacancy existing in the Board. It was voted to approve the addition of three exhibitions for the year 1921, Miss Marian R. Case having agreed to provide the prizes for them. It was voted that the President appoint an Advisory Committee of five members of the Board of which the President should be chairman. The President appointed as the other members of this committee Messrs. Sargent, Saltonstall, Farquhar, and Roland.

The following appointments were voted for the current year: Walter Hunnewell as Treasurer, William P. Rich as Secretary pro tem also Librarian and Superintendent of the Building. On motion of Mr. Farquhar it was voted that a committee of two be appointed to have supervision and superintendence of the Society's building. Messrs. Burrage and Farquhar were appointed as this committee.

On motion of Mr. Wilson it was voted that the President of the Society be a member ex officio of all committees with authority to call and attend meetings but without the right to vote at them.

On motion of Prof. Sargent it was voted that the President appoint a committee of three, the President as chairman, to revise the By-laws of the Society. The President appointed Messrs. Saltonstall and Sargent as the other two members of this committee.

The President suggested the importance of a closer touch with the members of the Society and read a draft of a proposed letter to the members encouraging a greater interest in the work of the Society. On motion of Mr. Wilson it was voted to approve the letter and that a copy be sent to every member of the Society together with the Bulletin containing the President's Inaugural Address.

May 5. It was voted to confirm the appropriation of $4,500 for advertising the recent Rose Exhibition as previously recommended by the Committee on Prizes and Exhibitions. It was voted that a Spring Exhibition be held in 1922 at which bulb plants in flower should be the principal feature. An appropriation not to exceed $6,000 was voted for this exhibition and a committee, consisting of Messrs. Burrage, Allen, Farquhar, and Roland, was appointed with authority to frame a schedule for such an exhibition. The President suggested also an exhibition of ferns and wild flowers during the present or the succeeding year and it was voted that the Committee on Prizes and Exhibitions be given full authority to prepare a schedule.

On motion of Prof. Sargent the following named persons were elected to Corresponding Membership in the Society:

Mr. W. R. Dykes, Secretary Royal Horticultural Society.

Mr. Fred J. Chittenden, Wisley Gardens, England.

M. Jacques de Vilmorin, Paris, France.

September 8. The President spoke of the death of Mr. John K. M. L. Farquhar since the last meeting of the Board. Mr. Farquhar had been a member of the Board of Trustees for fifteen years and President of the Society in the years 1913, 1914, and 1915. His death is a loss to the Society as well as to the horticultural interests of a much wider range.

To fill the vacancy existing in the Board on account of the death of Mr. Farquhar Miss Marian R. Case was unanimously elected a Trustee for the remainder of the current year. To fill the vacancies existing in the numerous committees of which Mr. Farquhar was a member, Mr. Burrage was appointed a member of the Committee on the George Robert White Medal of Honor; Mr. Wilson on the Committee on the Supervision of the Society's Building; and Mr. Allen on the Advisory Committee. It was voted that the vacancies in the Committee on Lectures and Publications and on Prizes and Exhibitions remain unfilled for the remainder of the year.

The President offered the following statement:

Boston, September 8, 1921.

Board of Trustees,

Massachusetts Horticultural Society,

Gentlemen:

I hereby propose in writing, at your meeting now being held this 8th day of September, 1921, which is at least two months before the next annual meeting of the Society, which this year comes on November 19th, the following amendments to the by-laws of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society.

Albert C. Burrage.

He offered also a list of the proposed amendments which were duly discussed by the members and on motion of Mr. Endicott it was voted to adopt the statement of the President and to approve the amendments to the By-laws as corrected at the meeting.

It was voted that the Committee on Exhibitions be given full charge of all arrangements for the exhibition of tropical ferns, tropical orchids, and other plants, to be given at Horticultural Hall,

September 22-25, with full power to allot space for exhibits thereat and to change the same from time to time and to make such advertisements of the same as in their discretion is expedient, but at a cost of not exceeding $500.

The President presented a communication suggesting an exhibition of native ferns and wild flowers in the spring of 1922. He stated that at the Native Orchid Exhibition in April of the present year it became apparent that many members of the Society were deeply interested in the native ferns used in connection with the arrangement of that exhibition and would appreciate seeing a comprehensive exhibit of them. He had already done much work upon such an exhibition and had gathered a large part of the material for it. He further suggested that a special committee be appointed to take charge of the matter with full power to arrange such an exhibition if, in their discretion, it seemed expedient to do so; such committee to have the right to authorize such exhibition, to fix the date for it, to advertise it, and to determine the admission price to be charged.

He also offered to guarantee the Society that the receipts shall at least equal the expenditures for advertising the exhibition, setting it up and transporting the plants to and from such exhibition.

It was voted that a special committee of three be appointed, of which the President shall be the chairman, to consider the matter of the proposed native fern exhibition in the spring of 1922, with an appropriation of $2,000 for expenses of the exhibition, advertising, etc.

The President appointed as the other members of this committee Messrs. Sargent and Richardson.

It was voted to confirm the appropriation of $4,773 for the schedule of prizes for the exhibition of September 22-25, 1921, and $200 for the lecture and Bulletin in connection with it.

On motion of Prof. Sargent the following named persons were elected to corresponding membership in the Society:

Mr. C. E. Lane-Poole, Conservator of Forests, Perth, Western Australia.

Mr. J. F. Bailey, Director, Botanic Gardens, Adelaide, South Australia.

Mr. J. Cronin, Curator, Botanic Gardens, Melbourne, Victoria.

Mr. Alister Clark, Glennara, Bulla, Victoria.

Mr. J. H. Maiden, Director and Government Botanist, Sydney, New South Wales.

Dr. L. Cockayne, "Ngaio," Wellington, New Zealand.

Mr. David Tannock, Supt. of Botanic Gardens, Dunedin, New Zealand.

Mr. L. Rodway, Government Botanist and Secretary, Botanic Gardens, Hobart, Tasmania.

October 7. Communications from W. R. Dykes and F. J. Chittenden were read expressing appreciation of the honor of election to corresponding membership in the Society.

The President spoke of the proposed amendments to the By-laws of the Society and it was voted that the revised draft of the amendments to the By-laws of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society presented at this meeting by the President be and the same are approved. It was voted to authorize voting on the various amendments by Sections at the Annual Meeting of the Society in November.

On motion of Mr. Endicott it was voted to appoint John S. Ames Treasurer of the Society to succeed Walter Hunnewell, deceased, and on motion of Mr. Webster it was voted to appoint Mr. Ames a Trustee for the remainder of the current year. It was further voted that the bond of the Treasurer be made $25,000 at the expense of the Society.

The President stated that on account of the large financial deficit for the last two years the Advisory Committee recommended a reduction of the appropriation for prizes for the year 1922 and on motion of Prof. Sargent it was voted that the appropriation for prizes for the year 1922 be made $2,000 to include the income of the special prize funds of the Society, also that the prizes previously voted for the Spring Exhibition be limited to the Bulb Schedule already published.

The special committee on the award of the George Robert White Medal of Honor for the year 1921 reported the name of Mrs. Louisa Yeomans King of Alma, Michigan, for this award. Prof. Sargent, for the committee, stated that it was considered desirable to honor a woman prominent in horticulture, in recognition of her service to horticulture in increasing the love of plants and gardens among the women of the United States by her success as an organizer and manager of their garden clubs, by her public addresses and books about gardens, and by the example of her enthusiasm and industry. It was voted that the George Robert White Medal of Honor for the year 1921 be awarded to Mrs. Louisa Yeomans King.

On motion of Mr. Webster it was voted that the Treasurer be requested to present at each meeting of the Board a financial statement covering the receipts, expenses, and appropriations to the date of the meeting.

On motion of Prof. Sargent Mr. Gurney Wilson, Editor of the Orchid Review, was elected to corresponding membership in the Society.

PRIZES AND EXHIBITIONS.

Thomas Allen, Chairman of the Committee on Prizes and Exhibitions, presented the following report:

To anyone who reads attentively the published Transactions of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society it must become evident that in the reports of the various officers and committees there is a great deal of duplicate effort and repetition, causing such reports to be unnecessarily voluminous. Largely on account of this condition a committee was appointed to so adjust and amend the existing By-laws of the Society that the duties and functions of officers and committees are now more clearly defined, and as these amendments have been accepted by the Society, it is hoped that from this time on the above-mentioned superfluities will be obviated.

Bearing in mind these facts your Committee on Prizes and Exhibitions makes its report as concise as possible. It has gathered together some comparative figures which should be of interest.

The principal duty of this committee is to prepare a schedule of exhibitions and prizes covering the whole year, of course, under instruction and supervision of the Board of Trustees. In pursuance of this duty your committee, after holding several meetings and giving the matter due consideration, issued a pamphlet of fifty-one pages covering the field of this particular phase of the Society's activities. A supplementary schedule of eight pages covering the Spring Bulb Exhibition for March, 1922, has also been prepared and issued. This was necessary in order to give the exhibitors ample time for preparation.

Besides the ten regular exhibitions authorized by the Trustees, two special and unusual exhibitions were held which do not appear in either schedule. These were the Native Orchid Exhibition in May and the Grand Exhibition of Tropical Ferns, Orchids, and Other Plants, in September. The latter necessitated the issuance of a short schedule covering 65 classes.

In coöperation with the American Rose Society a Grand Exhibition of Roses and Other Plants was held April 6 to 10, with the following results: 86 classes were scheduled with $6,789.00 offered in prizes. 72 classes were filled and $5,085.00 in prizes including cost of medals were awarded. The price of admission to this exhibition was placed at $1.00. The receipts at the ticket office, and from trade tickets issued at half-price, were $6,563.00. The expenses, including advertising and installation, came to $4,218.00, showing a net profit of $2,345.00. But if we included in the expense account the prizes awarded we have a horse of another color. Prizes awarded, $5,085.00; expenses, $4,218.00; total, $9,303.00. Receipts, $6,563.00, showing an actual deficit of $2,740.00.

The next exhibition when an admission fee was charged was the Grand Exhibition of Tropical Ferns, Orchids, and Other Plants, September 22 to 25, with the following results: 65 classes were scheduled, with $4,773.00 offered in prizes. 50 classes were filled, and $2,275.00 in cash prizes and $2,000.00 in medals were awarded. The price of admission was fifty cents, receipts from sale of tickets, $555.50, general expense, $866.30, showing a deficit of $310.80. If we include prizes and medals in the expense account we find a deficit of $4,585.80, a return of about 12% on the cost.

The third pay exhibition was the Grand Exhibition of Plants, Flowers, Fruits, and Vegetables held November 2 to 6, with the following results: 120 classes were scheduled and 74 filled. $3,103.00 were offered in cash prizes and medals. $1,319.00 in cash prizes and $168.00 in medals were awarded. The price of admission was again fifty cents, receipts from sale of tickets, $455.00, general expense, $404.75, net profit, $50.25. But if we include prizes and medals in the expense account we have a deficit of $1,436.75.

Summarizing — the total expense of the three pay exhibitions, including prizes and medals, was $16,336.05. The total gate receipts were $7,573.50, showing a net deficit of $8,762.55.

All the other exhibitions of the year were free and we will ask your patience to consider a few more figures. At the Exhibition of Native Orchids there was an attendance of 22,000. It cost the Society $623.00. But it gave more pleasure to more people at a less cost per capita to the Society than any other show of the year.

Next ranks the Dahlia Show when there was an attendance (during two afternoons) of 5,300. Then follows the Gladiolus Show with 4,959, next the Iris with about 4,000, then Peonies with 3,889, then Sweet Peas with 3,619, and then Roses with 3,523. This matter of attendance, or the response of the public to our endeavors on its behalf, is the most extraordinary and inexplicable with which we have to deal. Seemingly the largest crowds are attracted by novelties, or special and unusual features. If we estimate the popularity of everyday flowers to accord with the attendance at the exhibitions we obtain the following scale: 1. Dahlias, 2. Gladioli, 3. Irises, 4. Peonies, 5. Roses.

The question of music at our exhibitions has been much discussed, and the consensus of opinion, so far as we are able to judge, seems to be that it adds enough to the pleasure of the average visitor to justify it as an adjunct. In quality it should be appropriate to the occasion and therefore should be entrusted to the good graces of some person of undoubted taste in such matters.

Fashion in flowers is as capricious and as unstable as it is in my lady's gowns. That which is top-notch today is in the ash heap tomorrow. As an example take Chrysanthemums. Ten years ago they dominated our autumn exhibition and attracted crowds. Now we do not get enough entries to fill the hall and the crowds of visitors have disappeared. In a measure this may be attributable to the very attractive shows the dealers make in their shops and show windows, the psychological fact being that the public will not pay to see an exhibition when they can get the same pleasure for nothing.

One more question arises which is a debatable one; a question of policy, and is brought up by the rather astounding figures we have given you relative to pay and free exhibitions. Our Society being primarily an educational one, its effort should be to reach as large a number of persons as possible. We stage two exhibitions of practically equal merit. One is free and we get an attendance of 20,000. The other makes a charge of half a dollar and the attendance drops to less than as many hundreds. The lesson seems obvious.

Our neighbor, The Museum of Fine Arts, also an educational institution, remitted the entrance fee a few years ago with the result of a largely increased number of visitors.

The question is, shall we make all of our exhibitions free to the public?

PLANTS AND FLOWERS.

T. D. Hatfield, Chairman of the Committee on Plants and Flowers, reported in detail the exhibits made at the various exhibitions of the year 1921. An abstract of his report is given herewith.

January 8. At the Inaugural Meeting held this date, President Burrage and J. T. Butterworth showed many rare and beautiful orchids; James Wheeler showed a fine vase of the new pink-colored sport of carnation Matchless; William N. Craig, Buddleia asiatica; and S. J. Goddard, a vase of Erlangea tomentosa with violet-colored flowers.

April 6-10. The joint exhibition of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society and the American Rose Society exceeded the expectations of the members and others interested. It was one of the best spring shows the Society has held in many years and especially noteworthy for the excellence of the material displayed. Roses and orchids were the principal features. Thomas Roland's rose garden was artistically arranged and contained abundance of the newest and best varieties.

The Breck, Robinson Co.'s garden was quite different in design. If there was any criticism to be made it was lack of color. In other words, a monotony of pink prevailed, which might be according to the tastes of artistically disposed visitors.

The displays of cut roses were excellent. Hybrid Tea roses were the feature. They have quite taken the place of the Tea roses we had years ago. Hardly ever have we seen such magnificent blooms. Orchids also were largely represented.

John S. Ames put up a natural arrangement of Kurume azaleas with rockwork, water, and a dark green background, affording an excellent opportunity to individualize the plants and bring out harmonious color effects.

The Messrs. Farquhar arranged a neat group of Kalmias and Polyanthus in the front vestibule. They kept in first-class condition throughout the show. Lists of other exhibits may be found in the special awards appended to this report.

On April 23 an exhibition of native New England orchids was arranged by President Burrage and scheduled for two days only, but so great was the attraction that it was kept open a week longer. This was probably the most successful exhibition from the viewpoint of attendance the Society has ever held. The paucity of attendance at some of our later exhibitions, where indoor flowers were the feature, may be an indication that the "outdoors" is becoming more and more an attraction and outdoor gardening is to become the gardening of the future. It will be no misfortune if it does. Native trees and even blueberry bushes and water were skilfully used so as to give almost the seclusion of native woods, and the plantings were natural. It was a remarkable achievement to bring so many species in bloom at one time, as many of them do not bloom naturally until late in the season.

May 28. The May Show was too late for lilacs scheduled for this date. A novel feature of the show was the exhibit of miniature rock gardens. Three entries were made, each covering a space $3 \times 2\frac{1}{2}$ feet, filled with wild plants and flowers.

June 4. At the Rhododendron Show held this date the Arnold Arboretum exhibited a new hybrid rhododendron named Anneliesae, a cross between R. arborescens and R. calendulaceum. It was fairly intermediate in character but interesting only as showing what may be expected from this cross. From the Arnold Arboretum came Rhododendron holmleae (R. discolor \times R. catawbiense), a very handsome hybrid raised by Charles Sander. T. C. Thurlow's Sons, Inc., of West Newbury showed a new rhododendron named Wm. P. Rich. It is a very pretty, late, pink-tinted variety, evidently closely related to the variety delicatissimum, white.

There were also interesting collections of herbaceous flowers.

June 18 was the date assigned for the Peony Show but it was too late to be representative. In the vicinity of Boston and south of it they were about past. The Thurlow's Sons' of West Newbury were about right and their exhibit took in about all the best in cultivation. The best blooms in the show came from Ayer's Cliff, Province of Quebec, Canada, and were shown by Harry A. Norton. Mr. Norton also showed La Lorraine, a yellow blooming tree peony of exceptional merit.

June 25. The Rose and Strawberry Show held this date was one of the poorest of the season. The Frick Estate, Manchester, made the only display of hybrid roses of any consequence.

July 9-10. Sweet Pea Show. Sweet peas were in poor condition at the time of this show. The weather had been unfavorable and the only exhibit of any consequence came from the estate of Mrs. Homer Gage, Shrewsbury, Allen J. Jenkins, gardener.

August 13-14. The Gladiolus Show was held in coöperation with the New England Gladiolus Society and was one of the best exhibitions of the year; all the halls were filled to overflowing. The season was just right and the quality of the flowers was never better. The cream of the latest introductions was presented by nearly every exhibitor, especially so in the line of the Kunderd and Primulinus hybrids. About half the blooms shown were of the latter type and were easily noticeable in the yellow, copper, and apricot shades, and softened down the brilliant tints of other types.

September 10. The Dahlia Show. This is always one of our most successful shows. We can always depend on a good display. Dahlia enthusiasts insure a good attendance.

The dahlia has changed wonderfully in the passing years. In days gone by we depended to a great extent on importation, but classes were restricted for the most part to "Show," "Fancy," and "Pompons." Later the Cactus-flowered varieties came in and crosses of the various types, already in cultivation, produced new forms which are now established and known as "Peony Flowered," "Decorative," and "Collarette." Seedlings are easily raised and bloom the first year, so that many new varieties are each year introduced for public favor, and we have become independent of foreign introductions.

September 22-25. A special exhibit of tropical ferns and orchids was held on these dates. Probably never before have so many ferns of all kinds been brought together at one exhibition and never before has so much effort on the part of the Society failed to attract the public. As a collection of ferns by one exhibitor, that put up by W. A. Manda of South Orange, N. J., was probably the largest ever seen anywhere. It was as complete as possible. All the types, from the stately tree ferns to the most diminutive Selaginellas were included, down even to the reproduction of ferns by spores. Ferns entered everywhere in all the groups and were the dominating feature, but scarcely less so were orchids and hardly anywhere have we seen so many rare and beautiful kinds.

November 2-6. The Chrysanthemum Show held on these dates was the best we have had for years. True, it lacked specimen plants, once the feature, but this deficiency was made up by groups of chrysanthemums arranged with other plants tastefully set up by Loren D. Towle of Newton and Mrs. Homer Gage of Shrewsbury. So nearly were they of equal decorative value that it was difficult for the judges to decide. Hardly secondary to the chrysanthemum displays were the groups of new hybrid begonias shown by Thomas E. Proctor of Topsfield and Edwin S. Webster of Chestnut Hill.

It is fitting here to mention an old exhibitor of chrysanthemums, James Nicol of Quincy, who has been showing cut blooms for more than twenty years. He never failed to enter in the class for the Henry A. Gane prizes. He grew the variety "Mrs. Jerome Jones" exhibited at this exhibition for the last time and has since passed away.

In addition to the money awards as listed in the Schedule the following special awards have been made by the committee:

OTHER AWARDS.

- April 6, the A. C. Burrage Silver Cup was awarded to the Julius Roehrs Co. for Display of Orchids, to occupy a space of 200 sq. ft.
 April 6, the North Shore Garden Club Silver Cup was awarded to Thomas Roland for the best rose suitable for outdoor cultivation in Massachusetts not previously exhibited before the Massachusetts Horticultural Society. Rose Los Angeles.
 June 4, the Hillcrest Silver Vase was awarded to Iristhorpe for best display of any variety of iris arranged for effect by an amateur, to be awarded to the exhibitor winning it three times.
 September 22, a Silver Cup was awarded to A. C. Burrage for the most artistically arranged group in the exhibition.

FRUITS.

Fred A. Smith, Chairman of the Committee on Fruits, presented his report for the year 1921 as follows:

The exhibition of fruit has been a feature of six exhibitions held by the Society this year. The number of the exhibitors and the size of the exhibits have been a disappointment to the committee. There have been many circumstances, however, to contribute to this state of affairs. First among these was the unfavorable climatic conditions which existed at the blossoming periods. Successive and continued frosts and even freezes, extending over a long period and these alternating with rainy periods and long continued lowery weather gave the very reverse of favorable conditions for proper pollenation of fruit. This low fertilization was followed by excessive outbreaks of insect and fungous troubles, a condition which often follows.

In spite of the above unusual conditions some of the exhibits of fruit were good to excellent, notably the grapes, melons, and peaches. The strawberry show was rather disappointing both as to variety and quality and also as to the number of exhibitors.

It would appear that we are now at a turn in the road, or perhaps cross-road, in the fruit section of horticulture. Old orchards are passing out and disappearing at a rapid rate. Many young orchards planted in hope and cherished and cultivated with enthusiasm for a few years are now being badly and sadly neglected. The troublesome times of the past five years have negated much of the admirable work of the previous decade. Even nursery production of fruit trees and stock has reached the lowest ebb for twenty-five years. The Society through its influence can play an important and constructive part in the reestablishment of the fruit industry in the state.

We cannot pass without commenting on the severe loss sustained by our orchards during and through the recent ice storm. The loss appears to range from slight, in young orchards, to 30% and even 35% loss in old orchards. Some old orchards, until recently very valuable assets to their farms and owners, are now a questionable asset. Decay and further breaking of the trees must soon follow with the next crop years. More thought must be given to pruning and the shaping of our tree heads.

Outside the usual money awards as listed in the Schedule of Prizes the only special award was that of a Certificate of Honorable Mention to Hillcrest Gardens, Weston, for an exhibit of the Senator Dunlap, Premier, and Wilfrid Wheeler strawberries.

VEGETABLES.

William N. Craig, Chairman of the Committee on Vegetables, reported that classes were allotted to vegetables at seven of the eleven prize exhibitions held in 1921. The displays have been on the whole fairly satisfactory. Competition, however, has lacked the snap of former years. Several causes have helped to bring this about. The past season was a most erratic one. The leading exhibitors found difficulty in making displays in the midsummer months owing to enforced shortage of labor on their estates, and the size of premiums offered was not specially attractive.

No novelties of particular value were shown the past season and the solitary Silver Medal allotted for vegetables was awarded at the November exhibition to the Thomas J. Grey Co. for an excellent, well-arranged, and varied display. For an exhibit of peanuts grown on Cape Cod Howard Marston was awarded a Certificate of Honorable Mention. The William B. H. Dowse Trophy was awarded to Thomas W. Little of Dedham whose exhibits through the year were all of commendable excellence.

The committee favors the continuance of the summer exhibitions and would suggest the desirability of holding a large combined fruit and vegetable exhibition in the autumn of 1923, one which would attract skilled growers from a distance. The committee would suggest also that it would be a good plan to ask the vegetable committee to draft a schedule for the year as soon as the number of shows and amount of money available for premiums has been decided upon. If this plan were adopted some of the vagaries in past schedules could be eliminated. A further suggestion and a very important one would be that schedules be printed and distributed on or about January 1 as was formerly done. The late date of issuance of past years has been a handicap to would-be exhibitors.

CHILDREN'S GARDENS.

The Committee on Children's Gardens, through its Chairman, James Wheeler, reported a continued interest in this branch of the Society's activities. Every year the standard of this annual exhibition is higher in quality and arrangement. It is creating a love for horticulture and agriculture, developing better citizens by beautifying their homes and towns and teaching them to conserve their products through the canning clubs. The appropriation for prizes at this exhibition was $307 all of which was awarded to children representing 26 towns and districts in eastern Massachusetts. A list of the entries at the exhibition, held August 27 and 28, will give some indication of the interest shown. There were 97 plates of string beans entered, 63 of tomatoes, 79 of beets, 51 of carrots, 38 of potatoes, 38 of corn, 85 in the class for any other vegetable, and 21 in the class of preserved vegetables.

Through the interest of several members of the Society the committee was enabled to offer a Challenge Cup for the largest and best collection of vegetables and flowers from a school garden which brought out keen competition. It was won this year by the William McKinley school of Brockton.

A pleasing addition to the exhibition was an illustrated talk by Miss M. R. Case on "A year in New England as seen by a camera," which showed the children the beauty of the land in which they are living.

THE LIBRARY.

The catalogue of the library of which frequent mention has been made in the Librarian's report in recent years has at last been completed and published. It is a quarto volume of 587 pages arranged in two parts. Part 1 contains an alphabetical list of authors and titles occupying 372 double-column pages and Part 2, a classified arrangement under subject headings occupying 215 pages. It has received highly complimentary notice from horticulturists in both Europe and the United States.

Mr. Warren H. Manning has presented to the library during the year an interesting collection of horticultural trade catalogues numbering several thousands which has not as yet been wholly assorted and added to the already large collection of this material. The additions this year of trade catalogues have been 691 making the total number to January 1, 1922, 11,624.

ADDITIONAL NOTES.

While the details of the various exhibitions of the Society during the year 1921 are fully set forth in the reports of the chairmen of the several committees the Secretary will add a few observations which may be worthy of record.

The appropriations for prizes and gratuities have been the largest for many years. The actual awards made, including medals, have been as follows:

For plants and flowers,	$9,707.02
For fruits,	473.00
For vegetables,	544.00
For children's gardens,	307.00
A total of	$11,031.02

The amount of prizes awarded at the summer shows was comparatively small yet seventy-five per cent of the total attendance for the year was represented in these exhibitions. It is through these summer shows that the principal horticultural educational work of the Society is done.

These statistics contain suggestions worthy of thoughtful consideration in making up the annual schedules of prizes and exhibitions.

In February and March a course of four lectures was given by Professor W. J. V. Osterhout of Harvard University. His subject was "The Means of Controlling the Growth and Form of the Plant," with especial reference to the effects of food, water, soil conditions, poisons, vitamins, and stimulants. The charm of Professor Osterhout's manner in addition to the subject treated rendered these lectures of more than usual interest.

It has been often suggested that lectures be given at the regular exhibitions of the Society by horticulturists who have had special practical experience in the cultivation of the principal flowers shown. This suggestion was made effective this year through the generous interest of Miss Marian Roby Case who provided the following named lecturers for the nine summer and autumn exhibitions:

May 28-29. Kenneth W. Gillett, Southwick, Mass., on the cultivation of wild flowers.

June 4-5. T. D. Hatfield, Wellesley, Mass., on rhododendrons and azaleas.

June 18-19. Bertrand H. Farr, Wyomissing, Pa., on peony culture.

June 25-26. Wilfrid Wheeler, Concord, Mass., on strawberry culture.

July 9-10. Allen J. Jenkins, Shrewsbury, Mass., on sweet pea culture.

August 13-14. H. E. Meader, Dover, N. H., on gladiolus culture.

August 27-28. Miss Marian R. Case, Weston, Mass., an illustrated lecture, a year of New England scenery.

September 10-11. J. K. Alexander, East Bridgewater, Mass., on dahlia growing.

November 2-6. Albert R. Jenks, West Acton, Mass., on orchard fruit culture.

In addition to the above a lecture on tropical ferns was given by Ralph C. Benedict, Brooklyn, N. Y., in connection with the Tropical Fern Exhibition, September 22-25. These lectures are a valuable addition to the educational work of the Society.

At the Annual Meeting of the Society in November numerous amendments to the By-laws, recommended by the Trustees, were presented for action by the members, resulting in their adoption by more than the two-thirds vote required.

The publications of the Society during the year and the dates of issue are as follows:

February 5. Bulletin No. 5. A Plea for the Exotic.

February 11. Schedule of Prizes and Exhibitions for 1921, 52 pages.

February 19. Completed Catalogue of the Library. 587 pages.

March 18. Bulletin No. 6. The Arrangement of Flowers in public exhibitions.

March 21. Bulletin No. 7. Winter Flowering Begonias.

April 6. Bulletin No. 8. Literature of the Rose.

April 20. Annual Report for 1920, 60 pages.

June 15. Schedule of Prizes for the Tropical Fern Exhibition, September 22-25, 4 pages.

June 28. Preliminary Schedule of Prizes for the Spring Bulb Exhibition, March, 1922, 8 pages.

Massachusetts Horticultural Society

ANNUAL REPORT

FOR THE YEAR 1922

BOSTON

NINETEEN HUNDRED AND TWENTY-THREE

MASSACHUSETTS HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

1922.

Beginning with the year 1920 a change is made in the publications of the Society. Since 1874 the "Transactions" have been issued in two parts every year, with the exception of the years 1895, 1896, and 1897, when a third part was added containing a list of accessions to the library. Part 1 contained reports of lectures delivered before the Society and Part 2, the annual reports of the various officers and committees.

The necessity of a more prompt issue of the horticultural papers is recognized and the publication of the "Bulletin" renders it unnecessary to continue the former methods. It is now proposed to use the "Bulletin" for the horticultural papers and to publish an annual report containing the reports of officers and committees.

Massachusetts Horticultural Society

ANNUAL REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1922.

INAUGURAL MEETING.

The Inaugural Meeting of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society for the year 1922 was held at Horticultural Hall, Boston, on January 19, at three o'clock, with President Burrage in the Chair.

In opening the meeting President Burrage stated that he had no formal address to make but called attention to some of the principal horticultural events of the past year mentioning particularly the adoption of the new amendments to the By-laws of the Society adopted at the recent Annual Meeting.

The President then called for the annual reports of the officers and chairmen of the various committees which were read, accepted, and referred for publication in the Annual Report of the Society.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

The Secretary presented a summary of the business transacted by the Board of Trustees at the five meetings held during the year 1922.

January 21. John S. Ames was appointed Treasurer of the Society for the current year and Messrs. Ernest H. Wilson, Arthur Lyman, and Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby were elected Trustees to fill vacancies existing in the Board.

The Treasurer reported the expenses of the Society during the past year were $39,075.84, leaving a deficit of $8,720.00.

Standing Committees for the year 1922 were appointed in accordance with the requirements of the By-laws.

The President brought up the subject of legislation for the protection of wild flowers, particularly the mayflower, stating that he had presented a bill to the Legislature forbidding the sale and transportation of the flowers. It was voted that the bill as proposed by the President be approved and that the President and Messrs. Sargent, Allen, Saltonstall, and Roland be requested to appear in support of the same before the appropriate committee of the Legislature; also that a notice be sent to other horticultural societies and garden clubs advising them of the proposed bill and requesting their support of this legislation.

The following resolution was adopted: Resolved that the Trustees of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society favor close coöperation between that Society and the Garden Clubs of America in furtherance of the horticultural interests of this State; and the officers of the Society are authorized, under the direction of the Executive Committee, to take such action as will be helpful in carrying out this resolution.

On motion of Professor Sargent it was voted to offer the Society's Gold Medal to four of the Garden Clubs of this State, namely, the Lenox, Richmond, North Shore, and Chestnut Hill Clubs, to be awarded by them during the current year.

An appropriation of $400.00 was voted for the library for the current year.

May 8. Several communications were read expressing enthusiastic appreciation of the Wild Flower and Wild Fern Exhibition now being held in the hall.

The committee on the award of the George Robert White Medal of Honor for the current year reported through its chairman, Professor Sargent, the following motion:

Voted.—That in recognition of his conspicuous service to Horticulture by the establishment in Beverly, Massachusetts, of the greatest collection of exotic orchids the New World has yet seen; by his skilful and energetic management of the affairs of the Society; and by his labors to increase the love, protection and cultivation of New England wild flowers and ferns through his remarkable exhibition in Boston of these plants in the spring of 1921 and 1922, the George Robert White Medal, given only to those men or women who in recent years have done the most for Horticulture, be awarded by the Trustees of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society to their President, Albert C. Burrage. The motion of Professor Sargent was seconded by Mr. Endicott and unanimously voted and adopted.

It was voted to appoint William C. Endicott as a member of the Executive Committee and also of the Finance Committee to fill vacancies existing in those committees on account of the death of Mr. Saltonstall.

June 1. A communication from Mrs. Louisa Yeomans King was read acknowledging the receipt of the George Robert White Medal of Honor awarded her for eminent service in horticulture.

The President spoke of the need of increasing the membership of the Society and asked for suggestions as to the best methods of accomplishing it. He said that from the widespread interest manifested in the recent Wild Flower Exhibition this would seem to be a good time for extending the list of members. After some discussion of the matter it was voted, on motion of Professor Sargent, that a committee of three be appointed, of which the President should be a member, to plan for such addition to the membership of the Society. The President appointed as the other two members of this committee Messrs. Endicott and Sargent.

October 16. A communication from Mr. J. F. Bailey, Director of the Botanic Gardens of Adelaide, South Australia, was read expressing his keen appreciation of the honor of election to Corresponding Membership in the Society. Also one from Mrs. Banyer Clarkson of Tyringham, Massachusetts, conveying to the Society her sincere thanks for the Gold Medal awarded her through the Lenox Horticultural Society.

The Treasurer, Mr. Ames, presented a report on the financial condition of the Society showing a considerable deficit for the year, mostly on account of the extensive repairs made on the building. The subject of appropriations for the exhibitions of the ensuing year was referred with full power to the Executive Committee.

December 19. A communication was presented from John C. Wister of Philadelphia recommending that some action be taken by the Society to discourage the practice of naming seedlings of some of our popular flowers, many of which show little or no improvement in varieties already existing. It was voted that a committee of three be appointed by the Chair to consider the matter and report to the Trustees, and so far as possible coöperate with the New York and Pennsylvania societies. The President appointed as this committee Messrs. Roland, Thurlow, and Cameron.

The offer of the Wm. B. H. Dowse Trophy for another year to be awarded for exhibits of vegetables was accepted with thanks. It was voted to invite the New England Gladiolus Society to hold its annual exhibition for the ensuing year in conjunction with the Gladiolus Exhibition of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society. The Standing Committees of the Society for the year 1923 were appointed.

In compliance with the By-laws of the Society it was voted that the following named annual members be transferred to the list of life members, having paid all dues for twenty-five years:

John Barr,	South Natick, Mass.
Thomas J. Grey,	Chelsea, “
Harlan P. Kelsey,	Salem, “
Frederic H. Kennard,	Newton, “
Mrs. F. A. Pierce,	Brookline, “
Frederic J. Rea,	Norwood, “
Charles J. Sander,	Brookline, “

Mr. Allen, Chairman of the Committee on Exhibitions, reported the completion of the Schedule of Prizes for 1923 showing an overrun of about $1,000.00 of the appropriation voted by the Trustees. It was voted to accept and approve the report of Mr. Allen, and Miss Case offered to be responsible for any deficit that may result on account of the excess.

On motion of Professor Sargent it was voted to offer the Society's Gold Medals to be awarded through the Chestnut Hill Garden Society and the Lenox Garden Club and also to suggest to the President of the Garden Club of America the award of its medal at one of the exhibitions of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society.

An appropriation of $420 was voted for the library for the year 1923.

EXHIBITIONS.

Thomas Allen, Chairman of the Committee on Exhibitions, presented the following report:

In accordance with the terms of the new By-laws of the Society a divorce has taken place; the former Committee on Prizes and Exhibitions has been separated and there are now two committees in place of one, one on Prizes and the other on Exhibitions.

Acting on the suggestion of the Chairman of this committee made last year that needless repetitions in the reports of the various committees be avoided the following report attempts no digressions.

The principal duties of the Committee on Exhibitions are, first, to formulate and publish a schedule of exhibitions for the year, and, second, to supervise, in a general way, the installation of the exhibitions. In the preparation of the schedules it is necessary for the Exhibition Committee to act in conjunction with the Committee on Prizes, and it is also found helpful to have the Chairmen of the Committees on Fruits and Vegetables attend the meetings when the schedules are being prepared.

As the first exhibition planned for 1922 was a Grand Exhibition of Spring Flowering Bulbs, it was necessary to issue a preliminary schedule as early as June, 1921, in order that the growers and exhibitors should have ample time to prepare. The regular schedule, a pamphlet covering 42 pages, was issued in March, 1922. This schedule covers the nine exhibitions authorized by the Trustees.

The first exhibition was of spring-flowering bulbs, from March 23 to 26, inclusive. Eighty-three classes were scheduled and fifty awards were made. No account of the attendance was kept. The price of admission was placed at 25 cents. The receipts were $431.50 and the expense, aside from the prizes, was $192.50.

The next regular exhibition was on June 3 and 4, including rhododendrons, azaleas, and irises. No charge for admission was made. The number of classes scheduled was 28, the number of awards was 22, the attendance, 3,243.

On June 17 came the peonies, a free exhibition. The number of classes scheduled was 13, the number of awards made, 12. The attendance was 4,015.

On June 24 and 25 was held the Rose, Strawberry, and Sweet

Pea Exhibition, in conjunction with the annual exhibition of the American Sweet Pea Society. The number of classes scheduled was 56, the number of awards made, 22. The attendance was 3,819. No charge was made for admission.

The Gladiolus Exhibition was held August 12 and 13 with the coöperation of the New England Gladiolus Society. The number of classes scheduled was 40, number of awards made, 36. The attendance was 5,966, with no charge for admission.

On August 26 and 27 came the Exhibition of the Products of Children's Gardens; 28 classes were scheduled and awards were made in all classes. No record of attendance was kept.

On September 9 and 10 was held the Dahlia and Fruit Exhibition in conjunction with the New England Dahlia Society. The number of classes scheduled was 68; number of awards made, 46. The exhibition was free and the attendance was 6,162.

The last exhibition of the year was the Autumn Exhibition of Plants, Flowers, Fruits, and Vegetables held November 4 and 5. The number of classes scheduled was 108. The number of awards made was 81. The admission fee was fifty cents and the attendance was 1,529.

I took occasion last year to call attention to the relative popularity of different cultivated flowers as manifested by the attendance of visitors to our exhibitions. The result this year is the same as it was last year. Dahlias head the list with an attendance of 6,162; gladioli come next, the number of visitors being 5,966; rhododendrons and irises follow with 4,015; then roses, which this year were coupled with sweet peas, brought an attendance of 3,819. These were all free exhibitions. When an admission fee was charged the attendance diminished in a most astonishing degree. The attendance at the Chrysanthemum Show, when fifty cents was charged for admittance, being but 1,529.

In view of this fact, and that this Society is primarily an educational society, and should therefore reach, in its endeavors, the largest possible number of persons, it seemed advisable that, for the present at least, all exhibitions of the Society should be open free to the public, and it was so voted by your Board of Trustees at their last meeting, held in December, 1922.

Your Committee on Exhibitions has already prepared the schedule for 1923 and it is now in the hands of the printer. In the preparation of this schedule your Committee on Exhibitions wishes to acknowledge the material assistance rendered by the Chairman of the Committee on Plants and Flowers, the Chairman of the Committee on Fruits, and the Chairman of the Committee on Vegetables.

At the suggestion of your President, Mr. Burrage, a special exhibition of wild flowers and wild ferns, native to New England, was announced for May 3-11, the object being to familiarize the people with our native flowers and plants, and to stimulate the desire for their protection and preservation.

Practically speaking, in the common parlance of the day, it was a one man show. Preparations were begun more than a year in advance and collections were made from all quarters of New England, from the Cape to the mountains. Our enterprising President, Mr. Burrage, with his active and competent corps of assistants, really performed a miracle. By forcing some plants and retarding others, over a long period of time, asters and cardinal flowers were made to bloom with mayflowers and hepaticas.

The installation of this exhibition was a masterpiece. It was so well done that visitors were impressed with a consciousness of being "back to nature." The main hall was transformed into a mountain gorge. At the further end an eighteen foot high waterfall came tumbling over a rocky bed into a large and shadowy pool. It was backed and nearly surrounded by a most natural looking forest of conifers, and great masses of ferns. From the pool a brook flowed under a rustic bridge and on through the central glade. Pine needle covered-paths led from one fascinating point to another. All the ferns, native to New England, were growing there in natural surroundings and made one of the most attractive and instructive features. Then there were dogwoods, high and low bush blueberries, marsh marigolds and bayberries, all in full flower and all smiling and happy with their unusual neighbors, an assemblage such as, in all probability, will never come together again. It was a most beautiful and fascinating place, and aroused a most unwonted enthusiasm with the public which was manifested by the extraordinary and unparalleled attendance. Such was its popularity the exhibition was kept open until May 14. The turnstiles registered an attendance of nearly 83,000 persons, a figure never before even approached by any exhibition ever held in these halls, and there have been many of most extraordinary merit and interest. I have called it a masterpiece of installation and no other word seems adequate.

This community is under a deep obligation to Mr. Burrage for his altruistic activities on its behalf in promoting the interests which underlie the foundation of this Society.

PLANTS AND FLOWERS.

Theophilus D. Hatfield, Chairman of the Committee on Plants and Flowers, reported in detail the exhibits made at the exhibitions of the year 1922.

March 23-26. Spring Exhibition. This was only a fair show. The Schedule called for a liberal supply of bulbous plants, but was poorly filled. Various exhibits of decorative material not called for in the Schedule saved the show from being a failure.

Edwin S. Webster's display of French hydrangeas was well done. His group of decorative plants was well designed and tastefully arranged. It included acacias, heaths, Cytisus, Narcissus, Primulas, and Hyacinths as prominent features. He also had a display of well-grown Cyclamen.

Frederick E. Palmer, the Brookline florist, had a neat display of commercial plants, including palms, ferns, marguerites, hydrangeas, Schizanthus, and Baby-Rambler roses. The Iristhorpe Spring Bulb Garden was well-conceived and laid out with characteristically spring blooming plants, such as bulbs, primroses, irises, azaleas, forsythias, and dwarf evergreens.

Mrs. C. G. Weld set up an imposing group with Schizanthus, Amaryllis, Freesia, Cyclamen, Primulas, tulips, narcissi, ferns, palms, and hydrangeas. The wealth of material used could have occupied more space with equally good effect.

Loren D. Towle had a good group of well-grown Pink Pearl rhododendron, acacias, azaleas, and ferns, with decorative material in an effective grouping. W. W. Edgar Co. put up a lot of finely grown commercial plants with acacias, Baby Rambler and other roses, and hydrangeas as the principal features. Mrs. R. M.

Saltonstall showed a well-finished lot of Schizanthus, Cinerarias, and the old-fashioned Lachenalias. Walter Hunnewell Estate exhibited azalea Louisa Hunnewell, Azalea Kacmpferi, and Azalea speciosa, the last recently discovered in the Southern States.

E. B. Dane made a display of heaths and cut orchids. E. S. Webster also had a fine display of orchids. The Harvard Botanic Garden showed an uncommon plant, the Isoloma hirsutum, an ally of the Gesnerias. Edward Rose of Somerville made an educational display of bulbous plants, all being distinctly labeled.

William Walke of Salem staged a select group of Amaryllis with decorative material. L. D. Towle, George P. Gardner, Jr., A. W. Preston, Mrs. J. L. Gardner, E. S. Webster, and Miss Margaret A. Rand were the principal exhibitors of bulbous plants.

May 3-14. Wild Flower Show. The success of the native orchid show in 1921 no doubt prompted Mr. Burrage, our enterprising president, to have one of wild flowers this year. It was a large undertaking and was carried out with great skill. It was a wonderful achievement to have so many genera and species represented, blooming as they do naturally at various seasons of the year, in bloom at one time. Great credit is due to Mr. Burrage and his able assistants, Douglas Eccleston and Frederick Pocock, for carrying out the plan, even to the minutest detail.

June 3 and 4. Rhododendron, Azalea, and Iris Exhibition. Irises were shown in quantity and extra fine quality by Miss Grace Sturtevant of Wellesley Farms, Mrs. Homer Gage of Shrewsbury, and Mrs. C. W. Willis of Bedford. Miss Sturtevant's collection was notable for the large number of Iris pallida dalmatica hybrids, many of which she has raised. Among them were Shekinah, yellow; Caterina, yellow and chocolate tinted; Myth, solid blue; Balboa, solid lavender; Pandora, lavender; Trojana, deep blue; and Ossian, yellow. Iristhorpe gardens had Jacqueminot, maroon; Bernice, Kharput, Princess Victoria, and Iris flarescens.

Henry Stewart of Waltham showed a very good plant of the bottle-brush, Metrosideros floribunda, and a specimen plant of Dendrobium thyrsiflorum.

T. C. Thurlow's Sons made an attractive grouping of rhododendrons including plants as well as cut blooms. They also showed Ghent and Mollis azaleas, and the new rhododendron which they have named for W. P. Rich, the Secretary of the Society. It has a pretty pink bloom very much after delicatissimum in form.

June 17 and 18. The Peony Show. T. C. Thurlow's Sons of West Newbury were the principal exhibitors of peonies which were past hereabouts. The flowers were not up to form as they had been kept in storage. The display was set up attractively with a flower garden effect by James Wheeler of Natick and it did him great credit.

June 24-25. The Rose, Strawberry, and Sweet Pea Exhibition. A very good display of Rambler and bush roses was made by A. J. Fish of New Bedford. Amongst them were Silver Moon, and Dr. Van Fleet; Aunt Harriet, crimson; Gruss an Freundorf, maroon; Sander's, white; Oriole, yellow; Philadelphia Rambler, scarlet; Christine Miller, Petite Jean, and Edwin Lonsdale. Hillcrest Gardens showed fine larkspurs; Walter Hunnewell Estate, Clematis recta, var. mandshurica and Astilbe koreana. Mrs. Lester Leland, Eric H. Wetterlow, gardener, set up a very fine group of seedling tuberous begonias. They are evidently well adapted for bedding purposes.

The Sweet Pea Show as such came near being a failure on account of weather conditions. There were few exhibitors and only a limited amount of stock was staged. Edwin Jenkins of Lenox mustered enough to compete for the Hutchins Memorial Prize. In this exhibit were Daisy K. Elliott, pink; Ravensburg, bronze purple; Cecily, cream pink; Floradale Purple; Hebe, pink; R. F. Felton, lavender; Felton's Cream and Rose Elliott, magenta; Constance Hinton, white; and Mrs. Tom Jones, blue.

August 12-13. The Gladiolus Show. This was one of the best of the year in every way. Gladiolus enthusiasts attended in large numbers. For the time being the Primulinus hybrids hold first place, their gracefully arching spikes and lovely color tones appeal to all. Besides they are more easily adaptable for various kinds of decorations and very fine effects can be made when used with almost any kind of greenery.

For bolder effects and especially where brilliant coloring effects are desired the Gandavensis, Lemoinei, and Childsii hybrids will continue to find a place. Some of the best of the Primulinus hybrids are Salmon Beauty, Alma Gluck, Butterfly, Simplicity, Dawson, and Naomi. A fine vase of Mrs. Frank Pendleton was shown by Charles Beasley of Milton. Of the other types some of the outstanding varieties were Schwaben, yellow; Panama, sulphur tinted pink; Dr. Norton; Red Emperor; Pink Perfection; Europa, white; Persian, maroon; Niagara, yellow; H. C. Goehl, Lemoinei hybrid, white, dark blotch; Diana, red; Crimson Glow; America, lavender pink.

A. L. Stephen won the prize for a display of fifty or more varieties with one hundred; B. & A. Norley of Roslindale and C. W. Brown of Ashland made fine displays of seedlings. The principal exhibitors were A. L. Stephen, S. E. Spencer, Charles Beasley, James Wheeler, Eugene Fischer, C. F. Fairbanks, L. D. Towle, and A. L. McLean.

The Bay State Nurseries made an extensive display of herbaceous flowers, Miss Marian Roby Case showed a tasteful basket of lace flowers and poppies, Thomas H. Hughes, decorative dahlias, and T. C. Thurlow's Sons, phloxes.

September 9-10. The Dahlia Show. Apparently the dahlia remains the most popular flower with the mass of garden lovers. This was one of the best shows of the season. One commercial firm made an attractive display arranged in baskets with foliage. This was a welcome change from the monotony of row on row of bottles. The majority of the flowers staged were of the Decorative and otherwise ragged types, noted for their large size and often coarseness. Very few of the neater, old-time Show and Fancy were to be seen. There were many aliases. Something ought to be done by the Dahlia Society to classify and weed out synonyms.

November 4-5. The Autumn Exhibition. The Chrysanthemum Show has lost its name. What a change! Loren D. Towle's display of chrysanthemums with other decorative material in design and arrangement was the most effective grouping seen here for a long time. There were no specimen plants. Mr. Towle's big blooms were quite up to the standard for size but there were no new varieties.

Edwin S. Webster's decorative display had some very good hybrid begonias as a feature. It was well designed and tastefully arranged. Mr. Towle's decorative display included some very good orchids. Single chrysanthemums came from Arthur Lyman, Mrs. Homer Gage, and Cromwell Gardens, Connecticut. They attracted much attention.

A. E. T. Rogers of Prides Crossing exhibited a table of seedling chrysanthemums raised by him from Mrs. Filkins, an old fringed variety of the Anemone-flowered type. While retaining more or less the fringed character of the parents they showed considerable diversity of form and may become valuable for decorative purposes.

In addition to the money awards as listed in the Schedule the following special awards have been made by the committee:

GOLD MEDAL.

- March 23. A. J. Jenkins, spring bulb garden.
 May 4. Douglas Eccleston, for the reproduction of natural living conditions of native New England flora.
 " 4. E. H. Lincoln, for the production and exhibition of a remarkable series of unrivaled photographs of native New England flowers.
 " 24. E. S. Webster, best arranged group of growing plants. Awarded through the Chestnut Hill Garden Society.
 June 30. Mrs. Banyer Clarkson, best exhibit of hardy perennial plants. Awarded through the Lenox Garden Club.

APPLETON GOLD MEDAL.

- January 9. Donald McKenzie, culture of Cypripedium insigne Sanderae.
 May 4. Frederick Pocock, for assistance in the reproduction of natural living conditions of native New England flora.

SILVER MEDAL.

- March 23. L. D. Towle, Azalea indica, Mattapan variety.
 June 17. T. C. Thurlow's Sons, Inc., for the most meritorious display of peonies arranged for effect.
 August 12. A. L. Stephen, best collection of not less than fifty named varieties of gladioli.
 " 12. Thomas Cogger, Gladiolus American Beauty.
 " 12. Bay State Nurseries, display of herbaceous flowers.
 September 9. Joseph Breck and Sons, meritorious display of dahlias.
 November 4. E. B. Dane, Brasso-Cattleya Admiral Jellicoe.

BRONZE MEDAL.

June 3. For the most comprehensive display of irises in any and all classes.

" 24. T. C. Thurlow's Sons, Inc., display of late-blooming peonies.
August 12. S. E. Spencer, collection of fifty varieties of gladioli.

FIRST CLASS CERTIFICATE OF MERIT.

January 9. E. B. Dane, Cypripedium Perfection (C. venustum \times C. belatulum).

" 9. " " " Cypripedium (C. alportense \times C. Leeanum giganteum).

HONORABLE MENTION.

March 23. Warburton, Florist, Carnation Remington Red.

June 3. Walter Hunnewell Estate, seedling azalea (A. arborescens \times A. calendulacea).

" 3. T. F. Donahue, display of seedling peonies.

" 3. Miss Grace Sturtevant, vase of seedling peonies.

" 24. A. J. Fish, Rambler Rose Gruss an Freundorf.

" 24. Mrs. Lester Leland, collection of tuberous begonias.

August 12. S. A. Borden, display of gloxinias.

" 12. T. H. Hughes, display of decorative dahlias.

" 12. Thomas Cogger, collection of seedling gladioli.

" 12. L. D. Towle, decorative display of gladioli.

" 12. Hillcrest Gardens, basket of lace flowers and poppies.

- September 9. W. H. Cruff, dahlia seedlings from Geisha.
" 9. E. F. Dwyer & Sons, seedling dahlia.
" 9. G. L. Fish, display of seedling dahlias.
" 9. Mrs. C. D. Benedict, decorative display.

OTHER AWARDS.

- June 4, the Hillcrest Gardens Silver Cup was awarded to Irithorpe for the best display of irises arranged for effect by an amateur, to be awarded to the exhibitor winning it three times.
June 24, the Chestnut Hill Garden Society Silver Trophy was awarded to Irithorpe for the most artistic exhibit of sweet peas.

FRUITS.

Edward B. Wilder, Chairman of the Committee on Fruits, presented his report for the year 1922, as follows:

The display of fruit for the year has been limited to four exhibitions, the Schedule making no provision for the usual show of currants, raspberries, and other small fruits in July.

The Strawberry Exhibition was a failure, there being only one plate of strawberries and two plates of cherries on the table June 24-25. This was due to the early season, the crop having passed before the date set for the exhibition.

It seems increasingly difficult in our uncertain New England climate to make up a Schedule for small fruits six months in advance and set a date for their exhibition with any certainty of having the date of the exhibition come at the height of the crop. We are very glad to state that the Schedule for 1923 has left the dates for the June exhibitions to be fixed later, as the season develops. It is interesting to note that at the Exhibition of Summer Fruits, August 12-13, prizes were awarded for every class in apples and pears; peaches and plums, however, being scarce.

Mrs. C. E. Cotting of Manchester, Mass., J. F. Madden, gardener, received a Certificate of Merit for a seedling melon grown under glass. This melon is a cross between Honey Dew and Sutton's Superlative, some specimens having a very thick orange flesh of most excellent flavor, other specimens having green flesh but also of good flavor. The Committee is of the opinion that this seedling melon is of great promise; and it is hoped that it will be perfected by its originator.

There was a good display of fruit at the Dahlia and Fruit Exhibition, September 9-10, although the date was a little early for autumn fruits. The apples were excellent and the native grapes very attractive, with some peaches, plums, and foreign grapes. This was by far the best show of the season up to that time. We think, however, that the fruits at the November Exhibition, November 4-5, outclassed anything during the year. The Lecture Hall contained a fine display of apples, one long table being entirely devoted to any variety of apple other than those classed in the Schedule.

Special mention should be made of the class for fifty specimens of apples, in which there were eleven entries. Much interest in this class was shown. There was also an excellent display of pears and native grapes which warrants special mention because of the lateness in the year for such fruit.

The Special Prize offered by the President of the Society of a $50.00 Silver Cup for the most effective, comprehensive exhibit of fruit grown by the exhibitor and covering a space of 50 square feet was awarded the Hillcrest Gardens of Weston, Mass., which had a very attractive exhibit of fruit beautifully arranged with oak leaves in their gorgeous autumn coloring against the wall of the Lecture Hall.

These autumn exhibitions have greatly encouraged your committee, who ask your hearty coöperation that the great Fruit and Vegetable Exhibition to be held September 28-30, 1923, may be the best ever held in these halls.

VEGETABLES.

William N. Craig, Chairman of the Committee on Vegetables, reported that the exhibits of vegetables made during 1922 were fewer in number than for some years but the quality was uniformly good. The season was on the whole a good one for vegetable growing and crops averaged a little better than usual; exceptions were celery which was much attacked by blight and in many fields and gardens seriously damaged by the European corn borer; also sweet corn the culture of which has been given up completely in some sections owing to the last named pest. As the corn borer attacks other vegetables than celery and corn and is steadily spreading it has become a most serious menace to vegetable growers.

The summer was an extremely wet one and both potatoes and tomatoes suffered from the excess of moisture but we never had cleaner and better grown specimens of each at our exhibitions.

Vegetable collections have been good but in some cases more artistic arrangement might have been made with very little effort. Splendidly grown vegetables properly displayed are equally as attractive as fruits or flowers and exhibitors should see to it that each specimen is staged so as to show its individuality. We are still much behind the European shows when it comes to artistic groupings. We can grow good specimens, why not take time to properly display them? There is also great need for improvement in nomenclature. The rules of the Society are not obeyed at all in many cases and exhibitors must be taught the absolute necessity of labeling all exhibits plainly, not with small wooden labels, tags, or strips of paper of variable size, but with plain cards of a uniform size either printed, typed, or written in ink. There is a crying need of better labeling of not only vegetables but of flowers and fruits and this was especially true at our August and September shows.

Appropriations for vegetables were small in 1922 and for several preceding years. They are much more liberal for the coming year and we look to see more extensive and better grown displays of vegetables at the shows in 1923 than for many years. A combined vegetable and fruit exhibition is scheduled for September 28-30, 1923, and we would earnestly urge the support of commercial growers, who have been all too few of late, private gardeners, and amateur cultivators, so that we may have displays at this and other exhibitions which will reflect credit to the Society. It will be particularly pleasing to have specimens shown of new and unusual vegetables such as Miss Case of Hillcrest Gardens has done so much to popularize.

The William B. H. Dowse Trophy offered to the exhibitor making the best showing of vegetables during the year was awarded to Oliver Ames of North Easton (Edward Parker, gardener). The Silver Cup offered by the President of the Society for the most effective comprehensive exhibit of vegetables covering a space of fifty sq. ft. was awarded at the Autumn Exhibition to Hillcrest Gardens, Weston.

CHILDREN'S GARDENS.

The Committee on Children's Gardens, through its Chairman, James Methven, presented the following report:

The Annual Exhibition of the Products of Children's Gardens was held at Horticultural Hall on Saturday and Sunday, August 26 and 27, 1922. With five exceptions all the prizes offered by the Society were awarded and competition in some of the classes was remarkable. In the class for six specimens of tomatoes there were 92 entries, and in eleven classes for single plates or specimens of vegetables there were 473 entries. In the class for the best collection of four varieties of vegetables there were 42 entries.

In the classes for flowers the competition was also keen. There were 50 entries for the five prizes offered for a vase of dahlias. The quality of the products exhibited showed a wonderful improvement over previous years. During the show several of the judges gave advice to the children in selecting and arranging their exhibits, a work which could be continued with good results.

ADDITIONAL NOTES.

Supplementary to the reports of the officers and committees the Secretary presents the following additional record of the work of the Society during the year.

The appropriations for prizes and gratuities and the actual awards made were as follows:

For plants and flowers	$4,175.00	Amount awarded	$2,964.00
For fruits	864.00	" "	527.00
For vegetables	704.00	" "	502.00
For Children's gardens	305.50	" "	301.25

Total amount offered	$6,048.50	" "	$4,294.25

The lectures given on Saturday and Sunday afternoons in connection with the exhibitions show a steady increase in attendance and interest and are proving a desirable addition to the horticultural educational work of the Society. The speakers this year have been the following well-known specialists in the various classes of plants:

Spring Exhibition, March 23-26. Chester Jay Hunt, Little Falls, N. J., on the culture of the daffodil and the tulip.

Rhododendron Show, June 3-4. William H. Judd of the Arnold Arboretum, on the cultivation of rhododendrons.

Peony Exhibition, June 17-18. David C. Stranger, West Newbury, Mass., on peony culture.

Rose and Strawberry Exhibition, June 24-25. Dr. Robert Huey, Philadelphia, on the cultivation of outdoor roses.

Gladiolus Exhibition, August 12-13. B. Hammond Tracy, Wenham, Mass., on the cultivation of the gladiolus.

Dahlia and Fruit Exhibition, September 9-10. Albert R. Jenks, West Acton, Mass., on the cultivation of fruit in New England.

Chrysanthemum Show, November 4-5. Charles H. Totty, Madison, N. J., on hardy chrysanthemums.

The following additional lectures were given on the occasion of the special wild flower exhibition in May:

May 4. Some reasons why our wild flowers are rare. By Prof. Merritt L. Fernald, Harvard University.

May 5. The conservation of our wild flowers. By Herbert W. Faulkner, Washington, Conn.

May 6. The cultivation of native plants. By Robert T. Jackson, Peterborough, N. H.

May 8. The naturalization of wild flowers. By Norman Taylor, Brooklyn Botanic Garden, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The publications of the Society and the dates of issue during the year were as follows:

March 24. Schedule of Prizes and Exhibitions for 1922, 42 pages.

April 15. Bulletin No. 9. Wild Flower Preservation.

April 17. Bulletin No. 10. Wild Flower Literature.

June 1. Charter and By-laws of the Society. Revised to January 21, 1922, 20 pages and cover.

July 22. Annual Report, 1921, 56 pages.

General Rules and Regulations.

1. Intending exhibitors must make entries to the Secretary of the Society at least three days prior to the opening of an exhibition. The management reserves the right to reject or admit any exhibit for which entry has not been received.

2. All exhibits and renewals must be ready for examination by the Committees at twelve o'clock on the morning of the exhibition or they may be disqualified.

3. During the preparations for all prize exhibitions a doorkeeper shall be stationed at the door of the Hall who shall on no account leave his position and shall see that no person, except members of Committees and Exhibitors or their assistants, is admitted to the Hall upon any pretext whatever.

4. IN ORDER TO AFFORD THE COMMITTEES AN OPPORTUNITY TO EXAMINE AND REPORT ON THE ARTICLES EXHIBITED NO OTHER PERSON CAN BE ADMITTED OR REMAIN IN THE HALL BETWEEN 12 O'CLOCK AND THE HOUR OF OPENING.

5. At the close of every exhibition a doorkeeper shall be stationed at the door of the Hall who shall on no account leave his position and shall on no pretext whatever admit any person to the Hall except members of Committees and Exhibitors or those bearing written orders from them for the delivery of articles exhibited; and all other persons who may be in the Hall at the close of the exhibition shall leave immediately.

6. In the case of exhibitions continuing through the evening, no general removal of articles shall take place until the next day, at such time as the Committee on Exhibitions shall appoint; and a duly authorized officer shall be present at such time and shall attend to the delivery of articles exhibited. Highly perishable exhibits may, however, be removed at night at the close of an exhibition, by permission of the Committee on Exhibitions or its authorized officer in charge.

7. The Superintendent of the Building shall employ all assistance necessary strictly to enforce the above rules, including police.

8. Exhibitors disposing of any of their exhibits must notify the Officer in charge of such disposal, and he shall not deliver such articles without a written order from the owner thereof.

9. All Plants, Flowers, Fruits, and Vegetables offered for prizes or other awards MUST HAVE THEIR NAMES ANNEXED, and must have been grown by the competitors. Specimens offered for exhibition only, by others than the growers, must in all cases have the names of the growers affixed.

10. No prize shall be awarded for any plant or other article unless such plant or the plant producing such other article shall have been the property of the exhibitor for three months next preceding the award, except such variety be exhibited for the first time in this country, or where special exemption is made from this rule in the Schedule.

11. All exhibits shall be marked by a card on which shall appear the name and address of the exhibitor and enclosed in an envelope on which shall appear only the number of Prize as listed in the Schedule.

12. One of the Halls or the Lecture Room will be open for the exhibition of new or choice specimens of Plants, Flowers, Fruits, or Vegetables every Saturday during the year. These exhibitions will be open from 12 M. to 2 P.M., unless otherwise stated in the Schedule.

13. Where a certain number or quantity of Plants, Flowers, Fruits, or Vegetables is designated in the Schedule, there must be neither more nor less than that number or quantity of specimens shown; and in no case can any other varieties than those named in the Schedule be in the stand.

14. One person may exhibit two or more specimens or collections in any one class, excepting where otherwise stated in the regular Schedule, but no variety can be duplicated in the exhibition of specimens, and not more than two prizes may be awarded to one exhibitor in any one class. Other things being equal, in collections, preference will be given usually to those composed of the most widely distinct varieties.

15. No specimens of either Fruits or Vegetables which have been once offered for competition can be offered a second time.

16. After the articles are arranged they will be under the exclusive charge of the Committees, and not even the owner will have the liberty to remove or touch them until the exhibition is closed, when they will be delivered as the contributors may direct.

17. No Plants, Flowers, Fruits, or Vegetables will be entitled to a prize or other award unless they possess points of superiority, and no award will be made to unworthy objects, though they may be the only ones of their kind on exhibition. The Committees may withhold or reduce any prizes.

18. Competitors will be required to furnish information as to their modes of cultivation, and to present specimens for trial and examination, if necessary.

19. Commercial exhibitors desiring to give away circulars or catalogues must apply for permission to the Committee on Prizes and Exhibitions or to its officer in charge, and the matter and manner of distribution will always be subject to its approval and control. Display cards of commercial exhibitors must be of white cardboard printed with black ink and not exceeding six inches in width and four inches in depth. Such cards may give the name, business, and address of the exhibitor but no other advertising matter.

20. In awarding Premiums for Fruits and Vegetables, adaptation to general cultivation will be deemed an indispensable requisite, but special awards may be given for superior specimens of any good varieties even though they may not flourish in all situations, and it shall be the duty of the Committee making an award for such specimens to state on the card of award that they are not desirable for general cultivation.

21. When specimens are presented for a name, the exhibitor shall communicate all the information he possesses as to the origin and the local appellation.

22. It will be the duty of the Committees to exclude from exhibition all inferior specimens; also all such Floral Designs, as in their opinion evince an incorrect taste.

23. The Committee on Exhibitions has power to change the time of exhibition for any article, if an earlier or later season renders such change necessary, by giving seasonable notice thereof to the Society.

24. All awards are payable on or before the 31st of December next after they are made. Those not applied for within one year from the time when payable shall revert to the Society for its own use and benefit.

25. No member of any of the Committees for awarding premiums or other awards shall, in any case, vote or decide respecting an award for which such member may be a competitor or in which he may have an interest; in this event such member shall temporarily vacate his place upon the Committee and the chairman shall have power to fill such vacancy at his discretion.

26. By Section XVI of the By-Laws Prizes and Gratuities may be awarded by the Board of Trustees, or by such Committees or Judges as may be appointed by it for such purpose, to any person for the exhibition of any Fruits, Plants, Flowers, or Vegetables, either new of their kind or of uncommon excellence; or for any new and successful method of cultivating any variety of Fruits, Flowers, Plants, Trees, Shrubs, or Vegetables; or for any other object immediately connected with horticulture; or for the essential advancement of the objects of the Society in any other way. But no Gratuity shall be awarded for any object which shall have been entered or exhibited for a Prize and no Gratuity given shall be of a larger amount than the lowest Prize established for the same exhibit.

27. No premiums except those authorized by the Trustees shall be awarded at any exhibition.

28. The decision of the several exhibition committees in awarding prizes shall be final.

29. Attention is called to the Special Rules of the Plant and Flower, Fruit, Vegetable, and Garden Committees, and all articles not offered in conformity to the Rules will be disqualified.

30. While the Society will take reasonable precautions for the safety of the property of exhibitors it will be responsible in no case for any loss or damage that may occur.

31. It is understood that all persons placing any article in any exhibition thereby signify their assent to all the Rules and Regulations, General and Special.

Special Rules of the Plant and Flower Committee.

1. All named varieties of Plants or Flowers exhibited for premiums or other awards must have the name legibly and correctly written on stiff card, wood, or some other permanent substance; and each separate plant or flower must have its name attached.

2. Plants in Pots, to be entitled to Prizes, must evince skilful culture in the profusion of bloom or decorative foliage, and in the beauty, symmetry, and vigor of the specimens.

3. No awards will be made on other than regular Prize days, except for objects of special merit.

Special Rules of the Fruit Committee.

1. All Fruits offered for premiums must be correctly named. Indefinite appellations, such as "Pippin," "Sweeting," "Greening," etc., will not be considered as names.

2. All Fruits offered for premiums must be composed of exactly the number of specimens or quantity named in the Schedule and must be shown in the Society's plates. A "plate" of Apples, Pears, Peaches, Plums, Nectarines, Quinces, Figs, Apricots, etc., is understood to contain twelve specimens, and this number will be required of all Fruits when not otherwise specified.

3. No person can compete for more than one Prize with the same variety or varieties of Fruit; except that a single plate of the same variety, but not the same specimens of fruit, may be used by an exhibitor for both Special and Regular Prizes.

4. Fruit specimens shall not be eligible for more than one prize. When once awarded a prize the same specimens cannot be put again in competition.

5. The Fruit Committee, in making its awards, will consider the flavor, beauty, and size of the specimens, comparing each of these properties with a fair standard of the variety. The adaptation of the variety to general cultivation will also be taken into account. Other things being equal, specimens most nearly in perfection as regards ripeness will have the preference. Score cards may be used at the discretion of the Committee.

Special Rules of the Vegetable Committee.

1. The specimens offered must be well grown and placed on the tables clean and correctly labeled.

2. All exhibits of Vegetables offered for premium must be composed of exactly the number of specimens or quantity named in the Schedule.

3. At all exhibitions of Fungi distinctively colored cards having the word "Poisonous" plainly printed thereon shall be provided, and all persons exhibiting Fungi not known to be edible shall be required to use these cards in labeling all such exhibits.

4. All collections of vegetables will be judged on merit, giving consideration, first, to quality; second, to arrangement; and third, to variety. Not more than two varieties of one kind of vegetable admissible in collections.

Special Regulations Governing Collections of Vegetables.

In Collections of Vegetables not more than two varieties of any one of the standard vegetables will be admissible.

Parsley, Curled Kale, or other vegetable greenery may be used by the exhibitor to assist in the decoration of the collection. Tasteful arrangement will be duly considered. Mere size of specimens will not necessarily entitle the exhibitor to any award.

The number of specimens must exactly conform to that given to each vegetable in the accompanying scale of points which is to be used by the Judges in making their awards.

In the Collection of Salad Plants arranged for effect exhibitors may use their own option in regard to number of specimens. The following varieties may be included: Beet, Celery, Celeriac, Chicory, Curled Cress, Water Cress, Cucumber, Endive, Fenchio or Florence Fennel, Cabbage and Cos Lettuce, White Mustard, Onion, Potato, Radish, and Tomato.

SPECIAL PRIZES.

William B. H. Dowse Trophy.

A silver vase is offered by Mr. Dowse to the exhibitor making the best showing of vegetables during the year, to be judged as follows:—

For single plates, 4 points for First Prize, 2 points for Second Prize, and 1 point for Third Prize. For Collections, for each variety, 2 points for First Prize, 1 point for Second Prize, and $\frac{1}{2}$ point for Third Prize.

The exhibitor winning the greatest number of points during the year will be awarded the Trophy.

Competitive classes only to be included in this award.

The Trophy can be awarded but once to the same exhibitor.

Hillcrest Prizes for Blueberries.

Miss Marian R. Case of Weston, Massachusetts, offers two prizes of $50 and $25 for the improvement of the blueberry by cultivation in Massachusetts.

Intending competitors are referred to the Committee on Fruits for further particulars regarding these prizes.

Hillcrest Gardens Silver Cup.

Offered for the best display of Irises at the Exhibition of June 3 and 4. Any variety arranged for effect by an amateur. To be awarded to the exhibitor winning it three times.

The Chestnut Hill Garden Society Prize.

The Chestnut Hill Garden Society offers a Silver Trophy at the Exhibition of June 24 and 25 for the most artistic exhibit of Sweet Peas.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All plants, flowers, fruits, and vegetables offered for prizes or other awards must have their names plainly annexed or the exhibitor will be liable to disqualification.

SPECIAL FUNDS

OF THE

MASSACHUSETTS HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

JANUARY 1, 1922.

The following is a list of the Special Funds of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society the income of which is devoted to the purposes stated. The date prefixed to each indicates the year in which the fund was established.

1845. SAMUEL APPLETON FUND. $1000.00.

To be invested as a permanent fund, the interest accruing therefrom to be appropriated annually in premiums for improvements in the arts to which the Society is devoted, in such manner as it shall direct, for producing trees good for food, and flowers pleasant to the sight. (Income applied in Schedule).

1846. JOHN A. LOWELL FUND. $1000.00.

To perfect the culture of flowers and fruits, and to diffuse through our State knowledge and taste in useful and ornamental gardening. (Income applied in Schedule).

1846. THEODORE LYMAN FUND, No. 1. $1000.00.

The proceeds of the investment appropriated in the shape of prizes for the encouragement of the growth of such kind or kinds of fruit as the government of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society may deem it advisable to select. (Income applied in Schedule).

1850. THEODORE LYMAN FUND, No. 2. $10,000.

The whole net income of this sum to be appropriated for the encouragement of the growth of fruits, or vegetables, or plants, or of all three, by the distribution of prizes, or premiums, or in the publication of useful or valuable works on the general subject of horticulture; or if it shall not be thought advisable so to employ the whole of the net income of the fund, then to appropriate a part of it in some uniform and specific way for the promotion of horticulture. (Income applied in Schedule).

- 1847 and 1848. JOSIAH BRADLEE FUND. $1000.00.

Income to be awarded in premiums for fruits and flowers.
(Income applied in Schedule).

1861. BENJAMIN V. FRENCH FUND, No. 1. $500.00.

The income to be forever appropriated in prizes for the improvement of the apple. (Income applied in Schedule).

1863. H. H. HUNNEWELL FUND, No. 1. $500.00.

Income to be applied in premiums and gratuities for the introduction and cultivation of new evergreen trees and shrubs, and particularly new varieties of hardy rhododendrons. (Income applied in Schedule).

1864. H. H. HUNNEWELL FUND, No. 2. $2000.00.

The income to be allowed to accumulate for periods of two, three, or more years, and distributed from time to time, after sufficient notice, under such regulations as may be deemed expedient, by a committee appointed for that purpose, in one or more prizes to the owners of estates of not less than three acres in extent who shall lay out and plant them with the most rare and desirable ornamental trees and shrubs, in the most tasteful and effective manner, developing the capabilities of the locations in the highest degree, and presenting the most successful examples of science, skill, and taste, as applied to the embellishment of a country residence; the trees to be under the most thorough cultivation, the grounds in high keeping, and the prizes to apply equally in cases where proprietors take professional advice, as well as when acting on their own judgment in their improvements.

1873. H. H. HUNNEWELL FUND, No. 3. $1500.00.

The income of this fund to be distributed in prizes for the encouragement of the cultivation of rhododendrons and hardy azaleas.
(Income applied in Schedule).

1864. WILLIAM J. WALKER FUND. $2354.43.

Income to be awarded for promoting the objects of the Society, and for encouraging the introduction and cultivation of superior vegetables.
(Income applied in Schedule).

1870. LEVI WHITCOMB FUND. $500.00.

Income to be awarded in prizes for potatoes of superior quality.

Preference to be given to new varieties showing an improvement over old varieties.

(Income applied in Schedule).

1885. BENJAMIN B. DAVIS FUND. $500.00.

Income to be expended as prizes for hardy grapes of superior quality, preference to be given to any new varieties showing improvement over old varieties.

(Income applied in Schedule).

1887. MARSHALL P. WILDER FUND. $1000.00.

One half of the income to be offered annually in prizes for grapes of American origin; the other half in prizes for the pear.

(Income applied in Schedule).

1889. JOHN LEWIS RUSSELL FUND. $1000.00.

The interest to be paid annually to some competent person, who shall deliver a lecture on the latest discoveries of the connection of the Fungi with horticulture.

(Income applied in lecture).

1898. HENRY A. GANE MEMORIAL FUND. $1000.00.

Income to be offered in prizes for chrysanthemums, preference to be given to varieties originated by the late Henry A. Gane.

(Income applied in Schedule).

1900. JOHN S. FARLOW FUND. $2500.00.

Income to be used only for the purchase of books for the library.

1901. JOHN D. WILLIAMS FRENCH FUND. $12004.68.

Income to be used for the purchase of books.

1902. BENJAMIN H. PIERCE FUND. $800.00.

Income to be used for the introduction of new fruits.

1905. JOHN C. CHAFFIN FUND. $1000.00.

Income to be given annually as a special prize for Hardy Perpetual Roses of unusual merit, according to the impartial judgment and discretion of the prize committee; but if in any year the exhibit shall not be, in the opinion of the committee, of sufficient merit to deserve the prize, the income for that year, or a portion of it, may be added to the prizes of subsequent years.

(Income applied in Schedule).

1907. BENJAMIN V. FRENCH FUND, No. 2. $3000.00.
Bequeathed to the Society under the will of Charles E. French.
The income to be expended in prizes for the best specimens of such fruit or vegetables as may be selected by the Trustees.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

☞ Appropriate recognition will be made at every exhibition of exhibits of new or meritorious plants, flowers, fruits, and vegetables, in addition to the classes of the Schedule. Awards ranging from First Class Certificates, Medals, or Certificates of Honorable Mention will be made if in the opinion of the Judges the exhibits are of superior merit.

☞ All plants, flowers, fruits, and vegetables offered for prizes or other awards must have their names plainly annexed or the exhibitor will be liable to disqualification.

EXHIBITION OF THE PRODUCTS OF CHILDREN'S GARDENS.

Saturday and Sunday, August 26 and 27.

Saturday, 12 M. to 6 P.M.

Sunday, 1 to 6 P.M.

RULES

1. Competition is open to all school gardens and to all children in Massachusetts under 18 years of age unless otherwise stated.

2. Cards will be furnished by the Society on which should be written the name and address of the exhibitor, and the number of the entry for which he intends to compete.

3. All articles exhibited must be ready for examination by the committee on or before 11 o'clock on the exhibition day. Vases and dishes will be furnished by the Society. The committee will be in attendance at 10 o'clock.

4. All products exhibited must be grown by the children in the school or home gardens.

5. After the exhibition closes all articles exhibited are to be removed by the exhibitors, or will be disposed of by the committee if desired.

6. Prize money is payable as soon after the exhibition as the list can be made out. It is necessary that the names and addresses of the exhibitors be left with the committee in order that the prizes may be paid promptly. Prize cards issued at the exhibition are to be taken home by the successful competitors after the exhibition closes.

7. All exhibits entered in competition must contain the exact number of specimens or varieties mentioned in the schedule. In collections of vegetables the same number of specimens of each variety is required as stated in the individual classes.

No more than two varieties of any one kind of vegetable admissible in collections; for example, two varieties of beans, two of cabbage, &c. &c., are admissible.

Decorative arrangement of exhibits will be considered.

Intending exhibitors must file a notice with the Secretary of the Society at least three days in advance that the proper committee may be notified to be in attendance.

The Library of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society

Attention is called to the advantages offered by the library of the Society.

All persons interested in horticulture are cordially invited to visit the library, and the librarian and his assistants are always ready to extend every facility possible to those in search of horticultural information.

The library is open on week days from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M., and on Exhibition Sundays from 1 to 6 P. M.
